Franco's Drive to Sea

This map shows how Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish insurgents, backed by Italian and German forces, drives onward to the Mediterranean, routing Loyalist troops. Franco's forces have entered Catalonia, capturing the village of Masalcorreig, south of the strategic Zaragoza-Lerida highway. Other troops crossed the Cinca river under an artillery barrage and moved into Frago.

Surrender Flags Fly As Fascists Push On

Bed Sheets, Pillowcases Hung From Windows By Panic-Stricken Residents of Lerida, Next City In Line of Franco's Push for End of War.

(By International News Service)

SARAGOSSA, Spain—Panic-stricken in the face of seemingly certain defeat, the population of Lerida fled from Catalonia's second largest city today as insurgent forces advanced steadily toward the ancient metropolis.

Nationalist aviators flying over Lerida, capital of Catalonia and field headquarters of the loyalist army, reported back to Saragossa that large-scale evacuation apparently was under way.

Despite the staunch resistance afforded by a hastily-augmented loyalist army, white flags of surrender were flown by countless inhabitants of the city, the observers said. Bed-sheets and pillowcases fluttered from hundreds of windows as residents strove to salvage their belongings and start a long trek into the countryside for safety.

Slow Insurgent Advance.

While steady, the insurgent advance was slowed up on the outskirts of Lerida. Retreating government troops wrecked bridges and mined roads, while at frequent intervals squadrons of loyalist airplanes roared over the advancing insurgents to harry their progress with bombs and machine-gun fire.

The devastation left in the wake of government forces was particularly evident at Barbastro. That city's ancient cathedral was found sacked, with its altars burned, while the four bridges leading into

STILL NO RUSH

And There Are Only 2 Days Left to Put on 1938 Tags.

The fact that the deadline for 1937 auto license plates is only two days away had not caused any great rush at the deuty registrar's office, Richland County Auto club, up to noon today.

With Thursday midnight as the deadline for old plates, Mansfield is more than 2,000 passenger licenses behind the number issued up to the same date last year, according to Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar, and almost 4,000 behind the number issued for the entire month last year. Only 5,685 tags have been issued for passenger cars to date, as against 9,633 issued last year up to April 1.

Truck licenses were even further behind, only one third of the 3,000 issued last year being called for so far this year.

The registrar's office is being kept open all day and for an hour and a half in the evenings, from 6:30 to 8.

Council Gets Ready to Talk Gas Rates

ORDINANCE IN EFFECT WILL EXPIRE IN MAY

Utilities Committee Head to Ask Other Cities What Rates They Pay.

EARLY SESSION ASSURED

Preparations were being made today to bring before city council the potentially controversial gas rate question.

The present three-year rate ordinance with the Ohio Fuel Gas company expires in May. The measure was passed by council April 10, 1935, signed by former Mayor Charles M. Lantz the following day, and after once being rejected by the company, was later accepted on May 15.

65-Cent Rate Now.

Under the present ordinance, domestic consumers pay $1 for the first 500 cubic feet of gas, and 50 cents per thousand thereafter. On the basis of 5,000 feet consumption per month, the rate is 65 cents per thousand feet.

Councilman Russell D. Porch, chairman of council's utilities committee, said today that he was preparing form letters today that would be sent to cities comparable in size to Mansfield asking information in regard to the rates paid and what company serves the municipality.

While none of the letters have yet been mailed, Porch said inquiries would probably be sent to such cities as Lorain, Lima, Zanesville and Newark.

Discuss Question.

Although no formal meetings of the utilities committee have been held, Porch said he had talked to the other two members, Lester D. Hunter and Arthur L. Croak, about an early session to consider a new rate ordinance.

He also said he had consulted City Solicitor Marion D. Ward as to the mode of procedure in drafting a new bill. No contact had yet been made with the company, Porch said, but added he hoped to open negotiations as soon as the committee has met.

Porch declined to comment on whether he thought the present

BORAH WARNS

Says U. S. Future Depends on Cure for Economic Ills.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., dean of the senate foreign relations committee, warned today that hope for survival of democratic government lies not in international alliances but in the solution of America's economic ills.

"An alliance, parallel or otherwise, between democracies that we may offer a solid front against dictators . . . seems workable," he declared in a counter-attack on the recent declaration of foreign policy by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

"Democracies are bleeding inwardly. The healing is not to be found in armaments, but in bringing contentment, happiness and prosperity to the harried, confused and discouraged citizen."

CONVICT BANKER LEAVES OHIO PEN

Wheland Taken to Hospital for Operation Unguarded.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Charles E. Wheland, former banker at Urichsville, O., now serving a 10 to 30 years' sentence in Ohio penitentiary for embezzlement, was in a hospital today for an operation.

Warden James C. Woodard of the prison said the man was transferred last Thursday upon orders from the welfare department. Wheland is suffering from a stomach ailment, Woodard added, and had been in the prison hospital much of the time since he was received at the prison Jan. 1, 1937.

The warden said Wheland was not under guard at the clinic.

War Not Imminent In Europe, Says Hoover On N. Y. Arrival

NEW YORK — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover came home from Europe today with seven or eight new honorary degrees, 15 or 18 new medals and the conviction that a general war is not imminent in Europe.

Degrees, medals and the conviction—a conviction persisting in spite of the extensive military preparations he witnessed—were gathered in a two-months tour of 14 countries. It was his first trip abroad in 19 years, and, smiling quetly, he confessed he had found the continent "changed."

Someone told him first of the passage by the senate of the government reorganization bill. He asked whether it had been further amended and when he heard it had not, said "that's too bad."

But he could not see, he added, that the bill contained any suggestion of dictatorship. He himself, he said, always had favored reorganization of departments.

Then he turned to his European conclusions.

"The first and outstanding change I saw was the revolution from democracies into totalitarian or authoritarian governments or to some degree of dictatorship," he said.

He declined to speak of his conversations with Hitler and other European leaders, said he had received "seven or eight degrees, I can't remember the exact figure, and 15 or 18 medals" and wound up the interview with this:

"The only problem in Europe that is not acute is the parking problem. They have plenty of space for cars."

Mothers Console Each Other In Love Tragedy

Mrs. Donald Carroll — Mrs. Fred Matthiesen

The two mothers shown in the picture at the top share a common grief. Mrs. Carroll's son, Donald, is charged with first-degree murder in the killing of Mrs. Matthiesen's daughter, Charlotte. The mothers of the two childhood sweethearts remained friends, attended Charlotte's funeral together, and are both working to win Donald's freedom. Lower picture shows the boy's father Donald Carroll, sr., at left, with Mrs. Mathiesen, Douglas Carroll, Donald's brother, an unidentified friend and Mrs. Carroll in the background.

'Made a Mess of Everything,' Banker Writes, Ends Life

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Robert A. Bishop, 54, ex-banker whose body was found in a gas-filled automobile, left a note to relatives, Deputy Coroner A. J. Kablauckas said today, in which he wrote: "I've made a mess of everything I've touched."

The body of the former vice president of the Central National bank was discovered late yesterday. A hose carried exhaust fumes into the car. Kablauckas termed the death suicide.

Bishop was arrested a week ago on a federal warrant charging misapplication of $2,000 in bank funds.

U. S. Agents Jail Photographer In Passport Fraud Quiz.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The federal government made its first move today against a gigantic fraudulent passport ring by holding a photographer, Ossip Garber on a charge of complicity.

Authorities intimated that he was suspected of having provided the photographs with which hundreds of fraudulent passports were obtained by the ring, including those on which Adolph A. Rubens and his wife entered Russia. Known also as "the Robinsons," they are held there on suspicion of espionage.

Garber was the first person to be charged here in the Rubens case. He was arrested by police and state department agents on instructions from Lester Dunigan, assistant United States attorney, who has been presenting evidence of the passport plot to a federal grand jury.

FUTURE OF GOLF CLUB IN DOUBT

Owner of Possum Run Property Sues Lessees for $675; Course Closed.

Future of the Possum Run golf course on the South Main street road was in doubt today as a $675 suit was filed in municipal court against the lessees by Mrs. Eva Swisher, 159½ South Main street, owner of the property.

In her petition in which she named the Possum Run Golf Club, Inc.. as defendant, Mrs. Swisher says she leased the 160-acre plot in Washington township to the golf club for $1,500 for a period of one year dating from April 1, 1937, to March 31, 1938. She says that $825 was paid, leaving a balance due her of $625.

The petition also asks for an attachment order on the property of the club which includes various equipment, furniture and fixtures. The property has been appraised at $1,924.

Terms of former officers of the club, R. B. Ridenour, president; Reese Mills, secretary; J. A. Herbert, treasurer, and P. J. Linster, manager, have expired.

Al Strachan, former manager of the club, who controls a majority of the stock, said he was unable to say what plans are being considered. No new organization is being attempted, he added.

Meanwhile a "No Trespassing" sign has been erected at the entrance to the course to close the 18-hole layout to early season golfers.

Possum Run is one of two public courses in the vicinity of Mansfield and has been in operation the last 10 years.

Set to Push Forward On Wages, Hours

Roosevelt Jubilant Over Reorganization and Utilities Victory.

(By International News Service)

WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—Jubilant over two New Deal triumphs in Washington yesterday, President Roosevelt today laid plans to press for passage of minimum wage and maximum hours legislation.

A mail pouch from the capital brought him a copy of the supreme court decision upholding the constitutionality of the security and exchange commission registration provision of the 1935 utility holding company act. This provision is looked upon as an integral part of the administration's program to lower power rates.

In the same pouch was a detailed account of the dramatic senate fight which brought victory for the president's government reorganization bill. The house already has passed a portion of the bill and is expected to send it over the final hurdles without a struggle to bring Mr. Roosevelt greater authority over the various semi-autonomous units of the executive department of the government.

Awaits House Action.

It was said that the president will not begin selecting the six assistants "with a passion for anonymity" that the bill would give him, until the measure is passed by the house. The secretive six, who will be selected from tried associates, will be White House liaison officers and act as his eyes and ears in every department of the government.

Yesterday's good news brought a series of phone calls from the little White House on Pine mountain to congressional leaders looking toward early enactment of a new plan to put a floor under wages and a ceiling under hours, at Gainesville, Ga., last Wednesday in a militant speech, President Rosevelt made it clear he has no intention of dropping his fight for such legislation and sent shivers of terror through Democratic members of congress, who opposed earlier wage-hour programs, by advocating their political deaths.

Today, the sixth day of his present stay in his "second state," brought to his desk a flow of routine business. This was thrust aside in the morning for his daily swim in the patients' pool—a gift of Edsel Ford—of the infantile paralysis resort Mr. Roosevelt founded.

SHUNS $350,000

Shirley's Mother Refuses Huge Sum for Appearances.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — How would you feel if your mother turned down opportunities to let you make $350,000 during a six weeks' vacation?

Well, Shirley Temple doesn't. She probably doesn't even know that her mother decided the little star's vacation, staring in June, will not be a money-making jaunt.

Mrs. Gertrude Temple said today she had rejected all sorts of personal appearance and radio offers totaling at least $350,000.

"We want Shirley to see the country," Mrs. Temple explained. "It couldn't be a set personal appearance tour and a vacation too."

Dems Postpone Friday's Rally After Davey Cancels Address

The 17th district Democratic rally, scheduled for Mansfield Friday night, was postponed indefinitely today due to Gov. Martin L. Davey's cancellation of his speaking tour this week, E. B. Kallmerten, county Democratic chairman, announced.

The governor, who was to have been the principal speaker at the meeting, called off the engagement on learning of the death of his sister-in-law in St. Louis. He had been scheduled to speak in Youngstown tonight.

Kallmerten, who is in charge of arrangements for the meeting was in Columbus today to confer with the governor's secretary, Mrs. Myrna Smith, on a definite date for the Davey speech at the Senior high school here. He indicated that it might be set for next week, possibly Wednesday night. Party leaders from nine counties had been invited to the rally.

Substituting for the governor on his scheduled radio broadcast last night, Mrs. Smith, his secretary for 18 years, praised him as a man who devoted "a great portion of his thoughts to the welfare of other people.

She admitted the governor "makes mistakes sometimes, but," she added, "he has a constant determination to make departments of state perform the best possible service for the people of Ohio."

"Gov. Davey is in politics because he loves people," Mrs. Smith asserted.

"It is natural that anyone in the governor's office should think politically to some extent, but Gov. Davey's primary interest is in his work. I have seen him angry when someone is unfair or untruthful, but he seldom speaks when he is angry. He waits and thinks it over. Then he speaks with a firmness and deliberation."

HOSTILE HOUSE GROUP GIVEN SENATE BILL

MEASURE GETS OPEN PATH

House Leaders Indicate Storm Won't Delay Consideration of Roosevelt Program.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The government reorganization bill went to a hostile house committee today. Although it appeared that the bitter fight which marked its passage in the senate would be renewed in the house, there will be no delay in its consideration.

Chairman John J. Cochran (D., Mo.) of the house reorganization committee, said that the measure would be considered immediately, but refused to indicated whether an attempt would be made to alter its provisions drastically.

3 Phases Draw Fire.

It was from Cochran's committee that the house received its own, more limited reorganization bill last year after President Roosevelt, in a special message to congress, asked for blanket power to transfer and consolidate executive agencies and bureaus.

Three important sections of the senate bill go beyond the power that the house was willing to authorize, and upon these the major house battle probably will center. They are:

1. Drastic reorganization of the civil service. In place of the present commission the senate bill provides for an administrator, assisted by a bi-partisan, seven-member civil service advisory board.

2. Abolition of the comptroller general and his function of checking expenditures before they are made. The senate bill creates an auditor general whose function would be to make a post-audit of expenditures.

3. Creation of a national resources planning board, under the new department of public welfare. The house bill authorized a welfare department, but the lower chamber has a special regional planning bill covering the resources board.

Demands Public Hearings.

Rep. John Taber, R., N. Y., a member of the house reorganization committee, said that he would

Tiny Wife Beats Up On 200-Pound Wrestler-Husband

NEW YORK—(INS)—Big, burly Mohammed Kahn, 200-pound Egyptian wrestler had a complaint to make.

"She beats me up, judge. She throws dishes and chairs. She gave me this black eye."

The court looked at thin little Mrs. Kahn who prefers to be known as Chalci Crow.

"He owes me a day's pay for working in his restaurant," she defended.

Hastily, Mohammed agreed to pay off after the court warned Chalci "No more rough stuff."

133 WALK OUT

Lima Rubber Workers Protest Pay Cut of Salaried Workers.

LIMA—(U.P.)—A 10-per cent reduction in pay of salaried employes resulted in a walkout of 133 employes of the Lima Cord, Sole and Heel company yesterday. Hourly wage rates were unaffected. The United Rubber Workers union contended that a contract provided for negotiations prior to wage adjustments. The company held that the contract did not apply to salaried workers.

Cities Renew Demands for More State Relief Funds

OHIO LEAGUE TO GIVE DAVEY NEW PROGRAM

Map Request for New Special Session to Make More Funds Available.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—A tentative relief program proposing that the state provide "at least half" the required funds had the approval today of representatives of 16 Ohio cities and four counties.

The program, which officials said they hoped to make permanent, was drafted last night at an Ohio League of Municipalities relief conference.

E. E. Hagerman, league president, said that the organization's legislative committee would consider the program and then submit it to Gov. Martin L. Davey with a request that he call a special "relief session" of the legislature.

Program's Proposals.

Salient points of the program, which is to be discussed further at another league meeting at Columbus April 21 and 22, propose:

The state raise at least half the money for unemployment relief, the state's portion to be determined on a basis of need and by a state commission.

Cities and counties raise their share of relief expenditures through enabling legislation permitting them to levy taxes which the state has levied or may levy;

Restoration of the Annat bill to its original form so that tax warrants may apply to county and school taxes as well as to city taxes;

Reduction of the majority required to approve special levies from 65 per cent to a simple majority and authorization of the taxing subdivision to borrow up to 70 per cent in anticipation of collection of such levies;

Cities and counties to be permitted to submit bond issues to finance their share of WPA projects, with a simple majority necessary for approval of such bonds; and,

Fear WPA Slash.

Many officials present expressed concern lest WPA be curtailed drastically after July 1, a situation which they said would complicate already involved financing woes.

Representatives of the communities estimated they faced a total relief deficit of $13,500,000 over and above all revenue for this purpose for the balance of 1938. They also estimated the state as a whole would encounter a $17,000,000 relief deficit, based on continuance of present WPA relief activities.

Full House Will See Players End Season Tonight

With a capacity house assured, the Community Players will make their final bow for the 1937-38 season with the presentation of "First Lady" at 8:15 this evening at Senior High school auditorium.

Helen Bacon, director, put the players through a dress rehearsal last night until well after midnight, and the results indicated as smooth a performance tonight as the Players have ever done.

The cast is an unusually large one, with 26 characters. Several of the players assume two roles. Amy Carpenter Douglass of Cleveland, one of the earlier players identified with the Mansfield Community theater group, will be seen in the role of "First Lady." Opposite her in the battle of feminine wits is Melva Graham, who is well known to Players' audiences.

KANSAS CITY IN HECTIC ELECTION

Fate of Pendergast's 'Little Tammany' Hinges on Outcome of Todays' Vote.

(By United Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Kansas City's voters determine today whether the Democratic organization dominated by Thomas J. Pendergast and known as the middle west's "little Tammany hall," is to be continued in office another four years.

The machine has controlled Kansas City for 12 years. Today it faced a coalitionist opposition which has waged a vigorous campaign to unseat it.

The mayoralty, eight councilmanic seats and two municipal judgeships were at stake.

The coalitionists, comprised of Democrats, Republicans and Independents, had potent campaign material in the current federal prosecution of vote frauds in the 1936 general election in which all Pendergast candidates were elected.

Col. Frederick E. Whitten, the coalition candidate for mayor, was heartened by the latest vote fraud developments. He predicted that the coalition would win with a majority of 10,000 votes.

Officials expected the election to be quiet and peaceful.

30 PASS EXAMINATION, BECOME CITIZENS—10 CASES CONTINUED

Thirty foreign-born Mansfield and Richland county residents today had become American citizens following the semi-annual naturalization hearings in common pleas court.

A total of 40 applicants took the final citizenship examination yesterday, but 10 applications were continued due to absence of witnesses for the petitioners or failure to submit the necessary credentials.

Examinations were conducted by T. R. Stapenhorst, Youngstown, federal examiner, and hearings were before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston. The oath of citizenship was administered by Clerk of Courts Fred R. Zellner at the courthouse.

The new citizens will receive their citizenship papers at a reception in their honor next week. Date for the meeting had not been set today.

In the group of successful applicants for naturalization are 15 men and 15 women. Five nations are represented, with Yugoslavia heading the list with 16. Six members of the group were born in England, five in Rumania, two in Germany and one in Italy.

Names and addresses of the 30 new citizens are:

200,000 TROOPS BATTLE ALONG CRUCIAL FRONT

Fate of Central China to Be Decided by Outcome of Bitter Fighting.

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI—A great Chinese army today was reported to be pushing back Japanese along a 100 mile front in bitter battle for Central China.

Onthe battle, along a furiously-contested line in Southern Shantung province stretching eastward from the Tientsin-Pukow railway, observers believed the fate of Central China depended.

More than 100,000 men were engaged on each side. Each army reported extremely heavy casualties for the enemy.

The latest bitter phase of the Shantung campaign, nearly three months old, began yesterday. Fighting continued through the night. Chinese asserted the result was a victorious sweep northward, with the Japanese falling back.

Quit 'Hairpin' Area.

Japanese disputed this, but the best available information indicated the Japanese had withdrawn from a gigantic hairpin area between the Tientsin-Pukow railway and the town of Lini.

In one of the several direct battles along the front about two miles outside Lini, Japanese retreated to a base 13 miles northeast after bloody fighting.

The Japanese later tried a counter-offensive against three small towns, but Chinese said the attempted steam-roller drive was fought to a standstill.

At one of these towns, Taierchwang, 300 Japanese troops tunneled under the wall and held its gate until Chinese wiped them out in two hours of hand-to-hand and bayonet fighting.

With the China dollar's depreciation prices also increased. Gasoline was up ten cents a gallon, and other imported goods were 20 to 25 per cent higher.

Property owners were demanding rentals in American and British currency. Food stores announced an increase of 30 to 40 per cent on prices of imported foodstuffs, effective April 4.

F. J. GRALKI DIES

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Today's lesson will be a little lecture addressed particularly to young reporters, feature writers and students of journalism. It will make the point that when a journalist falls down on an assignment to see somebody about something he has no occasion to ridicule the subject of his quest in print.

In fact, such copy, however brightly done, is an admission that the reporter has missed one, an abuse of power and a knock on a calling which is busy enough dodging and catching half bricks thrown by outsiders, and often with very good aim.

I am thinking of a merry but plainly impatient criticism of the personal habits and office hours of Judge K. M. Landis, the so-called commissioner of baseball, because a reporter in Florida could not find him by telephone to interview him regarding some question involving the St. Louis Cardinals.

Now, the old judge's position and some of his decisions are peculiar. He disqualified himself before he ever opened court, for he is employed by the baseball magnates to decide cases where their interests clash with those of the players, who pay him nothing.

HAS DECIDED AGAINST BOSSES

He is the bosses' judge, and there are no two ways about them, although it must be said that in several notable cases he has decided against the bosses, to their great loss, and in favor of his fellow wage slaves, to their great profit. That point and his theatrical mannerisms—for the old judge does like to hem it a bit—his golf and his office hours, if any, are ligitimate subjects for comment in cold blood or in his biography or obituary.

But they are no excuse for a reporter's failure to get a story, and an attempt to use them in lieu of sound results on an assignment is not allowable.

The most conscientious reporters sometimes get assignments on which they simply cannot make good, but the papers call that the luck of the game and skip it. Once, when Nicky Arnstein was hiding out from the New York police and dozens of reporters spent weeks trying to scoop the gallant officers, the search became a subject of daily reports in the papers, but they were done in good humor and at the expense of the reporters as well as the police.

The journalists were as much embarrassed as the stalwart guardians when it turned out that Donald Henderson Clarke of the old World had Nicky covered up all the time, waiting to drive him past the reviewing stand at the head of the annual police parade.

* * *

OFTEN COVERS WANTON INSULTS

And often a reporter's bitter personal anger and humiliation over wantonly insulting treatment are entirely suppressed in the noncommittal line, "Mr. Smith refused to discuss the matter with the press."

The essay on Juge Landis also argues that the judge dislikes newspapermen, which is neither here nor there, and, moreover, isn't entirely true, as I shall demonstrate. Public figures do not have to like newspapermen to maintain their right to fair treatment.

Many newspapermen themselves joyously detest certain others. And most sport writers know that in some of the most spectacular brawls of the last 10 years before individual ball players and individual reporters the reporters were loud and exasperating alcoholics whose conduct had long embarrassed the rest.

Not conceding that it is pertinent whether the old judge likes or loathes newspapermen, I will declare that he went to great trouble and no little personal expense and obligation in recent years to get jobs for two broke and despairing newspapermen who had been forgotten by their colleagues, and that once, when he was on the federal bench, he hocked his own life insurance to meet a crisis in the life of a cub reporter in Chicago who has since achieved success and has never forgotten the old mane-shaker's kindness.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The taboos that hang heavily over movie production grow steadily. In its task of pleasing everybody and offending none, Hollywood is finding it more and more difficult to make pictures the way it would like to make them.

Practically heartbroken in his own picturesque way was Director William Wellman the other day.

"For five years I've wanted to kill off an actor this way," he said, "and I finally got it into the script of 'Men With Wings.' Fred MacMurray's an aviator, taken prisoner in Spain. He's facing a firing squad, right beside his waiting grave, and he's given a chance to say his last words. He looks up at the sky, says, 'There's one thing I'd like to know—just what is this war all about?'"

But Wellman's pet scene is out of the picture. Spain—one side or the other—might take offense. Or some of the people elsewhere who are "interested" in Spain.

The Motion Picture Relief Fund has a new president—Jean Hersholt—and a new set-up under jurisdiction of Actors, Writers and Directors guilds.

The fund, to help those within the industry down on their luck, has been operating with insufficient money, and Hersholt's first step will be a scheme to more than double the present intake.

Clients of the fund will remain anonymous as before. The names of some of them—once great stars—would be startling if revealed.

Movie sounds the microphone never picks up: the exploding of a theory; the dropping of an option; the breaking of a heart.

* * *

It's happening again: the general soft-pedalling of the term "musical" applied to film productions. The studios are swinging quickly away from the vogue which dominated their output these past several years. Zanuck's high-powered musicals are going temporarily into the discard; several pretentious musicals announced by Paramount are being quietly overlooked; and the word is going the rounds that the public is "fed up" with the singie-swingies.

Saucy "Salad Bowl" Hat Adds Gaiety To Mode

A saucy "salad bowl" Breton of navy blue toyo straw is the choice of Jessica Dragonette for one of her hats. The singing star's blue eyes and golden hair are set off by the crisp white upturned brim of starched pique. The charm of such a hat lies in its simplicity and effectiveness of line. It is gay and youthful, and yet is suitable for any type of costume, from the severest of taileurs to the most feminine of frocks.

United Presbyterian Guild Names Mrs. Leavitt President

MRS. VERE MABEE, 505 South Main street, entertained members of the United Presbyterian guild, assisted by Mrs. Howard McClure, yesterday when officers were elected for the coming year, which begins April 1. Bad Temper Won't Change With Marriage

By VIRGINIA LEE.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am considering marrying a woman who is a little older than I am, and has a boy 11 years old. I love her very much and she says she loves me, but she has a bad temper and when she gets angry she says things that she doesn't mean. Yet she does things to show she loves me, and a few hours later she gets cross and angry and starts to argue. In a few hours she'll make up again.

"I am very jealous of her and she knows it, yet if I go out some place, when I come back she fights with me. But when she goes out and comes in whenever she pleases, she doesn't want me to say anything.

"She also has another man that comes to see her occasionally, and she claims she does not love him, yet when he comes she makes me and everyone else go.

"Her son and I cannot get along five minutes together. So I want you to answer me as soon as you can. I don't know what to do Sometimes she makes me so angry. She left her husband because she says she didn't love him. I don't know whether to marry her and hope she'll change, or try to change her first, or just stop seeing her—which will be very hard to do. What do you think is best?

"IMPATIENT AND UNDECIDED."

Ten years from now you will be a much happier man if you will take your courage in both hands right now and stop seeing this woman. A woman who is old enough to have been married and have an 11-year-old son, won't change unless she gets a strong change of heart from realizing that she needs to alter her ways for her own happiness or for that of one she loves.

Even now you see, she makes you miserable by her nagging tongue and by seeing another man. Could you trust her if you married her? And if you have never lived with an ill-tempered person, you have no idea how unhappy you can be.

And then, this son of hers. You may have thought that when you were his stepfather you would take some of the cussedness out of him; but you will soon find that she will bitterly resent any efforts of yours to discipline him. A youngster of that age can do a good deal to wreck a romance.

Larger Woman Pleased With Slenderizing Sheer Dress.

By MARIAN MARTIN

To be smart and practical, be sure your early Spring wardrobe includes a Dress with matching Jacket—and, to be slender, too, be sure it's made on lines like this one from Pattern 9615. From a dressmaking angle, it's one of the easiest of patterns to follow and from the style angle one of the smartest! The dress has a flattering yoke from which the front panel extends to form a long, unbroken line. If you wear any of the larger sizes, you'll get extra flattery from the jacket made either with revers and a snug button-and-loop or on straight Tuxedo lines. Complete Marian Martin Diagrammed Sew Chart is included to make your dressmaking task simple.

Pattern 9615 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48. Size 36 requires 5¾ yards 39 inch fabric.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

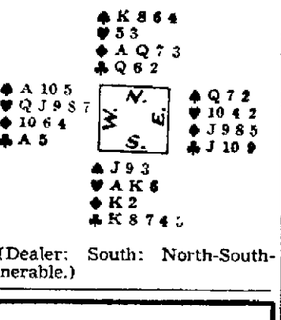
PAYING IN ADVANCE

IN NO TRUMP more than in suit contracts, there are occasions when it is profitable to let an early trick go so as to be better fixed later on. Picking the right place for such advance payments can mean the difference of several tricks later. Recognizing these occasions is one of the marks of a thinking cardsman

Several pairs in a duplicate tournament ended in 3-No Trump with the North-South cards of this deal, but not all were successful in making game.

The heart Q was led in all instances and allowed to hold. The heart J followed and was won with the K. All players now went after the club suit. Those who failed won the first trick with the Q, and on the second lead of the suit, when East played the 10, put up the K, which west won with the A. Two club tricks were therefore lost, as well as one heart and two spades.

Where the contract was made, the declarers realized that they could afford to lose only one club, so that after cashing the club Q, they did not cover East's 10 on the second round with the K. Their figuring was that if East had held the A, he would no doubt have captured the first and if West held both the J and A, the play of the K would not gain anything. By allowing the second club to ride, West was forced to cover the 10 with the A and only one trick was forfeited in the suit, so that game was made.



(Dealer: South: North-South-vulnerable.)

With the heart 4 led against his 4-Spade contract, what is South's best play?

Technique For Brushing Teeth

By JULIET SHELBY

(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

Lovely teeth are one of the most attractive features of any face, and complete cleanliness is the first step toward toothsome beauty. Though your teeth may not be perfectly formed, through no fault of your own, they can still be attractive and have a unique charm of their own if they sparkle with health and cleanliness.

There are plenty of good reasons to give a little thought and trouble to your molars. They should look their best for beauty's sake; they should be strong and white for health's sake; and they should be clean for your breath's sake.

Your dentist will tell you that three to five minutes twice a day—morning and night—is the minimum number of times you should brush your teeth. And it's a good idea to brush them after every meal if you can possibly arrange it. Brushing should do two things—cleanse the inner and outer surfaces of the teeth to remove any particles of food that may be in the crevices—and stimulate and massage the gums. This last point is one that the dental profession has been stressing particularly of late.

Technique of Brushing.

At first your gums may be a little tender if you massage them with your tooth brush. If they are, get one of those little rubber brushes that fit on the finger. Place it well up on the gums and brush gently in the direction the teeth go—downward on the upper gums and upward on the lower gums.

Now for the teeth. Get a tooth brush that is designed for gum massage as well as tooth cleaning, a round end bristle brush. Because as soon as your gums get healthier and firmer you can use your tooth brush on them also. When you clean your teeth be sure you use a rotary massage motion.

Begin at the front of the mouth working toward the back. When you've completed one side, begin at the front again and do the same on the other side. Then for the lower teeth surfaces, place the brush against the lower teeth, and giving your wrist a half turn upward, press hard on the brush so the bristles are whisked through the crevices of the teeth. Do the same for the upper teeth, this time using a downward movement. Finish by thoroughly brushing the chewing surfaces. You should have at least two tooth brushes, so one can be washed in warm water and left to completely dry before using it again

Your diet is tremendously important in building firm hard teeth Calcium and phosphorus are the principal tooth building minerals, so try to eat plenty of the foods which contain them—green leafy vegetables, butter, cheese, raw fruit and milk are some of the most important.

It seems like a swell thought to use mouth wash more than twice a day Keep it handy in your office drawer or kitchen shelf, and refresh your mouth during the day. It's good for the teeth and gums and is a swell breath freshener.

That old household remedy, bicarbonate of soda, is wonderful for cleaning the teeth, and it will really whiten and strengthen them. So if you have no particular brand of tooth paste, give it a try

With constant care and proper food you can live to a ripe old age and never have to go shopping for store teeth.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

MARY IS exceedingly "quick on the uptake," as her uncle so frequently and affectionately says of her. Therefore, I was not surprised to hear her murmur "Okay" in a muted, unruffled voice, without the slightest movement or change of facial expression at my sudden, urgent admonitions not to move, look startled or ask questions, but to do exactly as I bid her. She must have been seething with curiosity—and what passes for trepidation in Mary, who is the most fearless feminine creature I ever have seen—but she kept her eyes on the neckpiece we were ostensibly admiring, and to all appearances had no other thought in her mind than appraisal of its value to herself if she should decide to purchase it.

Has Course Charted.

I already had charted my course mentally. We were walking up the avenue, and the street directly back of us was eastbound and had taxis stationed along it, headed east. If we could turn into it quickly enough, we might be able to elude the man for a little while anyway. The movement would also give us proof that the man was a detective—or an ordinary citizen, if I had been mistaken. But I was sure that our first movement away from the window would be the signal for activity on his part.

"Keep moving along these windows, looking at the things until we have rounded the corner," I directed "Then look at your wrist watch ostentatiously, give an excited exclamation, "Oh! Auntie Madge! We'll be late!" and make a dash for a taxi Choose one on this side, in a position to get away from the curb quickly. Tell him to drive to Forty-Seventh and Park in a hurry, and have him ready to start by the time I get there, for I purposely shall move more slowly than you. Are you ready?"

"You bet," Mary whispered fervently In the next few seconds she carried out my directions with such fidelity and speed that when I looked out of the rear window as the driver swung into traffic, there was no sign of the watcher in the taxi stationed in front of the store.

Follows In Cab.

But the next instant my eyes caught him as he rounded the corner, walking at a rapid pace but with no appearance of undue haste. He spoke to one of the taxi drivers drawn in line, and I was sure that he was asking the man whether he had seen two women of our description entering a taxi. The answer, of course, was in the affirmative, and in another instant the taxi door had closed upon him, and his driver was maneuvering his car into the traffic line.

My first impulse was to tell our driver we were being followed, and bid him elude the trailing cab if he could. But it was an impulse born of panic, and my common sense came to my rescue before I could put the useless plan into words.

Changes Destination.

If the man were really a detective following us, he must know our identity and our abiding place. It would be futile to try to elude him. It also would be an unwise thing to do. Our movements today were those of which anyone in the world could be cognizant, and there was no possible need for secrecy. The vital thing now was to keep the man ignorant of the fact that we had discovered he was trailing us. Then, later on, when some occasion demanding a secret expedition on our part might arise, we could the more effectively cope with him.

I leaned forward and spoke incisively to the driver.

"I have changed my mind," I said "Please drive us directly to ——'s." I named the English tea room where we had earlier planned to go as a break in our window shopping expedition.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, March 30.

A FAIRLY active condition prevails on this day, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects, although the accent may be on the personal rather than business activities. Friendship and personal popularity figure to the extent of matrimonial ceremonies, with their attendant merriment in celebration. In such social and romantic excitement, be careful of accidents, excesses and be alert to any suspicious circumstance.

If This Is Your Birthday,

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a very happy and lively year, probably in the pursuit of pleasure rather than more sordid objectives Friendship, courtship marriage and all manner of friendly contacts and social functions claim the attention. In all these festivities be careful as to excesses, accidents and be watchful for duplicity or schemes.

A child born on this day may be lively, fond of fun and merriment and very attractive and popular. It may be clever, shrewd and gifted in writing.

THEATER

PRODUCTION Notes: Danielle Darrieux, who was brought to Hollywood after American producers saw her in the foreign made "Meyerling", will have Douglas Fairbanks, jr., opposite her in her first American picture, as yet unnamed . . . Charlie McCarthy and Edger Bergen are being featured in another full length film, "Letter of Introduction" . . . June Lang, Stuart Erwin, and Marjorie Weaver will appear in support of Loretta Young and Joel McCrea in "The Blin Mice," now in production at Fox . . . "Alexander's Ragtime Band" will give Alice Faye the lead in two "super" pictures in a row—"In Old Chicago" being the other . . . Warner Oland is recovering from the break down he had several months ago and will return to the Charlie Chan series, the first of the next series being on board the Yankee Clipper . . .

Their Favorite Star.

Mrs. Roosevelt wasn't the only celebrity who made a special trip to the Shirley Temple bungalow on the Fox lot to meet the starlet. J. Edgar Hoover also went there to meet his favorite leading lady, and while there was made a member of the Shirley Temple Police Force, which is made up of studio workmen who specially appeal to her. She even gave him a tin badge as a symbol of the honor. Hoover visited her while she was working on "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," her current starring vehicle which is the attraction at the Ohio theater. Shirley is surrounded with a talented cast, members of which contribute largely to the entertainment value of the picture.

* * *

Flagstad's Debut.

Mme. Kirsten Flagstad, the sensational star of the Metropolitan Opera, makes her movie debut in "Big Broadcast of 1938," the radio-screen festival of stars which headlines W. C. Fields. Mme Flagstad sings the Wagnerian aria, Bruennhilde's Battle Cry from "The Ride of The Valkyries." In direct contrast to the great Norwegian singer of opera is Dorothy Lamour, popular crooner, who also sings in the picture. In the cast are Martha Raye, Shirley Ross, and a flock of singers, comedians and dancers. The story was tailored to fit the talents of each player, leaving little to coherency or plot. It will be shown at the Madison through Wednesday.

Tarzan at Majestic.

Although Johnny Weissmuller has been under contract to one company for years he has played in only two pictures, both of them built around the adventures of Tarzan. Other players and companies have essayed to duplicate Weissmuller's success with the picture character, but have failed both artistically and financially in the attempt In "Tarzan Escapes," the swimming champion is seen again as the god of the jungle, with Maureen O'Sullivan as his mate. The Majestic shows this picture along with "International Settlement" as its mid week bill, beginning today. The second film is laid in the international settlement at Shanghai, with Dolores Del Rio, George Sanders and June Lang.

Adventure in Borneo.

Borneo, island of primative ferocity, legendary with the terror of wild men and dyak pirates, land of the fabled head hunters and of unexplored waterways that twist through impenetrable jungles—this was the country that called to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson when they went on the last of their camera adventures. They flew more than 30,000 miles over the island, taking their pictures and trailing wild animals. Their thrilling experiences are told in "Borneo" which the Ritz shows for three days, starting today. On the same bill is Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell are starred in "Live, Love and Learn," a story of an improverised artist who marries a wealthy social registerite.

Menu Hint.

Tomato Juice
Cooked Cereal With Rich Milk
Toast Carrot Marmalade
Coffee

DINNER

Creamed Dried Beef Over Toast
Canned Corn
Cabbage, Celery, Green Pepper Salad
Dutch Pineapple Cake Tea

Cooked cereal always seems so much more "fillin' " than ready-to-eat, so I have only suggested toast and carrot jam to complete the meal. The carrot marmalade recipe was sent me by my mother a number of years ago, and I am printing it just as she sent it to me. I am giving you two Christmas cookie recipes with the others.

Today's Recipes.

CARROT JAM. — The carrots have to be ground in the food chopper and boiled in water until tender. Boil four cups of carrots in water until dry, then grind two lemons and one orange, add four cups sugar and mix with carrots. Boil one hour and a half, then it is ready to put in glasses.

DUTCH PINEAPPLE CAKE.—Mix and sift two and one-fourth cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Cream one-half cup butter, add one cup sugar and beat well. Add three well-beaten eggs, add two-thirds cup milk alternately with sifted dry ingredients. Butter cake pan generously, springle with brown sugar and place in pan slices of canned pineapple with maraschino cherry in center of each. (The cherry may be omitted.) Pour cake batter over pineapple and bake about one hour in a moderate oven. Serve warm with whipped cream.

World's Tonic Gave Surprise of My Life

Didn't Think So Much Relief Possible from Indigestion Stomach Disorders. Worried About Halitosis.

Young Lady Says Simply Delighted.

Why shouldn't every young lady be bright, lively and vivacious? What young lady wants to be dull, poor company, have unclean skin and let bad breath make her a hermit by whispering—Halitosis. Here's one lady, Miss Hazel Healey, of 406 6th St., S. W., Massillon, O., who was not content to just drift from bad to worse.

"Mornings always found me tired and listless, just generally aching and with no energy for work; after meals I'd have a stuffy sensation in my stomach and a pressing sensation around my heart that worried me plenty. A nasty taste was always present and I passed up numerous invitations because mother told me often that my breath was bad. No modern girl wants to be isolated because of halitosis so naturally I took any and everything I heard about to guard against that. I used so many mouth washes that my mouth was raw most of the time. Mother said my trouble was really constipation and advised taking care of that.

"I took her advice and started taking World's Tonic. Well I got the surprise of my life. At once my constipation was relieved and I'm simply delighted to get so much unexpected relief in so many ways. Indigestion, gas and stuffy feeling, all different now. My skin is much better. And that bad breath worry, all gone and I haven't got halitosis after all."

A skillful blending of valuable alkaline with roots and herbs compound, makes World's Tonic pleasant to take. It is intended to assist nature without griping after effects and contains no habit forming drugs or narcotics.

World's Tonic is for sale at Central Drug Store and all other modern Drug Stores. (E 35) Adv.

21 Cage Teams Enter Y Tourney Opening Thursday

Four Class G Games on Tap For Initial Program to Get Under Way at 7 P. M.

TWENTY-ONE top notch cage combines from Mansfield and neighboring cities open hostilities at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday in the Gold Medal basketball tournament.

Of the 21 outfits entered, 14 will fight it out for the Class A championship, while seven battle for Class B honors.

Opens Thursday.

The tourney opens with four Class A games Thursday, the first tilt scheduled to get under way at 7 p. m. The Class B clubs go into action Thursday at 8:30 p. m. when the Mansfield Queen Bees face the Willard Merchants. Three class A games and one class B game are on tap for Friday.

The second-round tilts in the A division will be played on Wednesday, April 6, with the semi-finals in both divisions on Thursday. The finals and consolation games will be played on Friday.

Class A clubs start the ball moving at 7 p. m. Thursday with the following games. Benny's Hi Notes, of the Friendly House Senior league, vs. the Galion Quality Coals; the Reece Opticals of Mansfield vs. Triangle Grills of Marion; Ashland Merchants vs. Ralph's Snappy Service of Marion, and Mack's Pure Oils of the City A league vs. the Blue Sunocos of Ashland.

Draw Byes.

Jimmy's Lunch of Mansfield and the Lakewood Merchants draw first round byes, and will meet the winners of the Hi Notes-Quality Coals and the Blue Sunoco-Mack Pure Oil games, respectively, Friday. The Shellmar Products outfit of Mt. Vernon vs. Willis Billiards of Mansfield, and the Galion Barbers vs Earl's Dairy of Marion are the first round games Friday.

The Class B game Friday pits Ashland Y. M. C. A. against Lexington Independents at 7 p. m.

Other teams in Class B are the Rex Billiard, champions of the Friendly House Senior league, Mansfield Y. M. C. A.'s, and the Junior Yuncker Sports.

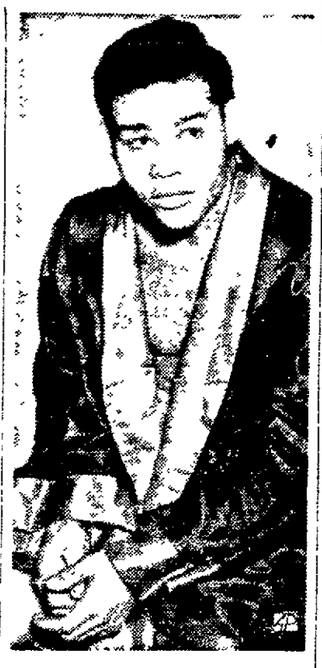
WHO HIT LOUIS HARDEST?

'Schmeling, I Guess'

By AURELIUS KINSEY

CHICAGO—(AP)—Max Schmeling stands out in Champion Joe Louis' memory as the fighter who has hit him the hardest and is the hardest to hit.

The Brown Bomber sat upon the dressing room table getting his hands taped for a workout preliminary to his scrap with Harry Thomas, Eagle Bend, Minn., heavyweight, in Chicago stadium, April 1. This is one of Louis' "warm-up" bouts before he meets Schmeling in Chicago or New York next June.



JOE LOUIS

Answer Makes Sense.

Louis greeted the interviewer with a nod.

"Tell us, Joe, who has hit you the hardest blow, you've received?"

Joe watched his trainer wrap court plaster over thickly-bandaged knuckles and said:

"Schmeling, I guess."

That made sense because Schmeling was the only man ever to hand Louis a knockout blow.

"Well, what boxer's style has been the hardest for you to figure out?"

"Schmeling, I guess."

"What was there about his style that was tough?"

"Well, he fights sideways and he leans his head back. He's hard to get to and it's hard to nail him with a left hook."

That is Joe's pet punch and he figures he will get a chance to use it on Max when they meet in June because he has studied the latter's crab-like style and is picking sparring partners who can give him that kind of a target.

Louis said he gained some ideas about Schmeling's style from motion pictures taken of their last fight. He figures he has solved the mystery of the German's stance.

Steam In Reserve.

One more question—and this may be of interest to Max Schmeling: "Has Joe Louis ever hit anyone as hard as he thinks he can?"

"No," said Joe. "I still figure I've never had to hit anyone as hard as I can hit. I figure I've always had some steam in reserve. Maybe some day I'll use it all."

Just when that will be is something to develop at the moment; maybe it will be Schmeling's bad luck to feel it—somewhere, sometime in June.

Stengel Puts Away Comedy, Wisecracks

Turns Serious In Attempt To Make Bees Win.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

BRADENTON, Fla.—(U.P.)—Falstaff has put away his comedy and wisecracks and is going in for serious stuff this season.

Casey Stengel, once baseball's most celebrated buffoon, is trying to build the Boston Bees into a first division ball club, and frivolity doesn't figure in his plans.

Bees Need Punch.

"I'm not kidding myself," he said. "This club needs more punch. We've got pitching and defense but some of the fellows have to hit better. If fellows like Fletcher, Warstler, DiMaggio and Lopez improve their batting it would make a great difference in the Bees."

The thing Stengel likes best about the Bees is the pitching staff. He counts Lou Fette, Jim Turner and Danny McFayden his "big three." He's looking for a fourth starter and expects to find him among Milburn Shoffner, John Lanning, Dick Erickson, Ira Hutchinson, Frank Gabler or Bill Weir.

The rest of the club is almost set except at third base, where Gil English, Eddie Mayo and Debs Garms are fighting it out.

Strong As Any.

"The catching staff of Lopez, Mueller and Riddle is as strong as any in the league," Casey said. "Fletcher at first, Cuccinello at second and Warstler at short give us an airtight defense at those spots. Roy Johnson or Max West will play left, Vince DiMaggio center and Gene Moore right."

Leaders Fall In Chicago

Two New Teams Top A.B.C. Five-Man Today.

CHICAGO—(AP)—High scoring is contagious and some alleys are softer than others. Action in the American Bowling Congress last night seemed confirmation of that bowling adage.

Out of what started as just another mediocre week-night competition at the Coliseum, the Isaac Baker and Son team of Erie, Pa., broke loose with a run of strikes and spares that boosted them to the top of the team standings with 3087 pins.

The very next team to fire away on alleys No. 25 and 26, the Colonial Paper company, of Steubenville, O., endangered the Bakers' hold at the top with three games over the thousand mark. The Colonials' 3040 figure entuled them to second place.

The Mystery Men of St. Louis, heretofore apparently comfortably situated on the roof, were crowded down to the third floor when the firing ended.

The Steubenville five rolled more consistently than the leaders but failed to reach the Bakers' total. Anchor Man Art Kane, whose 622 series was second only to Bill Drazic's 634, ran into two tough breaks in his final game. His total of 177 kept the Colonials from catching the Erie club. Team games were 1002, 1002 and 1036.

KO'S PATTERSON

CHICAGO — Billy Celebron, 155, Rockford, Ill., knocked out Verne Patterson, 146½, Chicago (3).

WOODBURY WINS FOUL SHOOTING CONTEST

Edward Woodbury won the foul shooting contest at the Friendly House Monday night. The youngster converted 12 out of 25 attempts to top Nick Gaubarz who scored 10 out of 25. The winner will receive a trophy. Twenty-three boys 16 years of age and under, participated.

MOTOR FREIGHT LEAGUE BOWLS WEDNESDAYS

The Motor Freight league, scheduled on Tuesday nights, will bowl on Wednesdays the next five weeks to permit the Mansfield Bowling association to hold its city tournaments on Tuesdays. The city tourney opens tonight.

Yanks Count on Javelin Tosser To Strengthen Pitching Staff

By DILLON GRAHAM

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—The Yankees are going to have a javelin thrower pitching spheres instead of spears toward the plate this season.

He's Joe Beggs, one of the minor leagues' outstanding twirlers last year, a 21-game winner with Newark.

The first time Joe got his mitts around a javelin he tossed the stick 180 feet—and won himself a college scholarship ,to a school that did not have a baseball team! He was good enough to place second in the Penn relays for Geneva college, but too interested in baseball even to try for the 1936 Olympic team.

You'd have to look a long while to find a pitcher with as nifty a record as Beggs has compiled in his four years in the Yankee chain. He has won 65 and lost only 23 games during that stretch and Marse Joe McCarthy figures he's ripe now for the majors.

Father Puzzled.

Beggs was cut out to be a steel puddler. His dad is an engineer in an Aliquippa, Pa., mill and the senior Beggs was as angry as a bee when Beggs passed up a chance in steel to go to college. And he didn't like it when Joe became a ballplayer, although Joe says he rather likes those salary checks the youngster has been sending home. Beggs senior still can't understand why men are paid to play baseball.

The Yankees beckoned Beggs to help take up the slack in the pitching staff with the passing of Blubber Malone, Frank Makosky and Johnny Broaca. Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing and Monte Pearson, along with Bump Hadley and Johnny Murphy, give the Yanks a pretty fair hurling corps but McCarthy likes to take no chances. That's why he has brought up such rookie aces as Beggs, Atley Donald, Steve Sundra, Spurgeon Chandler and Joe Vance.

JOE BEGGS . . . he has everything.

Beggs is a 182-pound, 6-footer; dark haired and 24 years old. He's the only Crotian in the league.

He Has Control.

Joe has something that most youngsters don't possess—control. Last year he walked only 33 men all season. He has plenty of speed and a repertoire of curves and a fast sinker.

He was a catcher in high school. That is, until the day he substituted on the mound and proceeded to pitch a no-hit, no-run game. He hasn't had on a backstop's mask since.

Joe has been spending his winters working in a steel plant, but no more, he says. "It's too dangerous," Beggs explained. "A drop of that hot steel would go through your hand like a bullet. I'm up where the big money grows now and I can't afford to gamble with my arm."

Liederkranz Club Adds to League Lead

Wins In Straight Falls Over Hungarian at Armory.

THE LIEDERKRANZ CLUB added a game to their advantage in the Club handicap league at the Meder alleys last night by taking two tilts from the Optimists while the second place Baku Grotto dropped a pair to the Mansfield Public Parks. The Liederkranz club now holds a four-game lead.

Stauffer of the Optimists accounted for the high individual total of 624. Uplinger led the Liederkranz with a 604. Linster rolled a 621 to lead the Parks to victory over the Grotto.

The best team total of 2722 was rolled by the American Legion, which won only one game from the Gas Meters, led by Mertz's 618.

The only other 600 total was a 612 by Dunn of the Eagles, who took a pair of decisions from the Schoolmasters.

Sammy Baugh Cinches Job, Slated to Start in Opener

By HENRY McLEMORE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(U.P.)—It's a shame Horatio Alger is not here to write this story because it is a success piece that outdoes anything since "From Bootblack to Banker."

The story concerns Sammy Baugh, and how the young and handsome Texan, in the space of 10 days, moved from the unenviable position of the rankest rookie on the squad to the point where he is the regular third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals.

When the National league season opens three weeks from now Baugh will be at third for the Cardinals. That comes straight from Frankie Frisch, who bosses the Gas House Gang, and is seconded by Joe Medwick the star outfielder.

"He's a cinch to get the job," Frisch said. "He can't miss. And I'm just as surprised as anyone. When he came to camp I thought he was just a football player, who could do us good only as a publicity gag. There were at least six players I rated above him. When he started looking so bad in exhibition games, I said: 'There's no use kidding around. I'll put that football player on third and show the boys just how bad we can look'."

Fight Tonight In Marion

'Kid' Carmel, N. C. O. flyweight champion, and Paul Carbetta, Friendly House leather slingers, return to action tonight when they battle in the semi-finals of the annual A. A. U. boxing tournament at Marion.

The two lads advanced last week with impressive victories. Jim Dewberry, the other youngster carrying the Friendly House colors, dropped his first-round battle. Johnny Villella and Mike Wentz will act as seconds.

NATHAN MANN WINS

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Nathan Mann, 191, Hartford, Conn., knocked out Lou Lepage, 182, Riverside, N. J. (2).

Talaber Drops Joe Magyar

Wins In Straight Falls Over Hungarian at Armory.

Frank Talaber, light heavyweight grappler from Chicago, defeated the popular Joe Magyar, Hungary, in straight falls in the feature bout of the Quality club's weekly show at the Armory last night.

Talaber and Magyar, who are really good grapplers when they want to be, disappointed the customers last night with their listless performances.

Talaber took the first fall in 13 minutes after breaking the Hungarian over his knee and covering him with a smother. The winning fall followed in 5 minutes after a series of body slams had taken all the fight out of Magyar.

Frankie Hart, Holland, downed Walter Stratton, Leetonia, O., to annex the semi-final honors. It took Hart 22 minutes to apply his "flying windmill" to win the first stanza. Stratton worked desperately on the injured neck of the Hollander which was damaged in his bout here last week with the Great Mephisto. Hart withstood the punishment, however.

Hart smothered the Leetonia farmer in the second fall in 9½ minutes while Stratton had him clamped in the painful "Indian death lock." It happened so quickly most of the fans are still in doubt as to who won the contest.

Tex Hager, El Paso, Tex., and Francis Steele, Plymouth, wrestled for 20 minutes without a fall, but at the bell Referee Jack Robison held aloft the arm of the Texan to give him an edge.

Cleveland Reduces Squad

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—The initial reduction of playing talent on the roster of the Cleveland Indians was made here today as three rookies were sent to Milwaukee of the American association on option.

The Indians turned loose Infielder Oscar Grimes and Pitchers Tom Drake and Ken Jungles.

Willis Hudlin, veteran pitcher, was injured during batting practice yesterday when struck on the leg by a drive from the bat of John Kroner. Hudlin was forced to retire for the day, but the injury was not believed serious.

The Indians were scheduled for an exhibition game today at Biloxi, Miss., with the Philadelphia Phillies. Mel Harder and John Humphries were to hurl for the Tribe.

Tire Teams Hold Spotlight Tonight

Dominate Opening Shift In City Pin Tournament at Meder Alleys.

MANSFIELD'S revived City bowling tournament will be pried open with a five-man shift at the Meder Recreation alleys at 8 p. m. today.

Although approximately 30 teams are entered in the city classic, W. S. (Brig Young, secretary of the Mansfield Bowling association, announces that tonight's shift will include only 10 clubs.

Ends In Two Weeks.

The tournament, which is being on a handicap basis, will be resumed a week from tonight, and will be concluded in two weeks.

Cash and other prizes, emblematic of city bowling championships, will be awarded in the tournament, which is being conducted by the city association with The News-Journal as co-sponsor.

Mansfield Tire company teams will dominate the shift tonight. The company will be represented by eight teams, all memmbers of the plant's league.

The New Method Laundry and Empire No. 1 office teams will complete the shift.

Teams bowling tonight will roll their singles and doubles next week, according to the tentative schedule, Young announced.

Oldsmobiles Entered.

Virtually all of the better teams in the city are entered in the classic, including the Miller Oldsmobiles, present leaders in the City league, Mansfield's premier circuit.

The entry also includes the Moose, Walter Barbers, Westinghouse, Southern Hotel, Untiet Insurance and Empire Payroll Dept., teams.

Man O'War's 21, Guest of Party

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (U.P.) — "Big Red" is 21 today and they're giving him a party. He will get an extra fine bunch of carrots as his principal present and then Harry Scott will whisper in his ear that one of his "kids" just last Friday brought to America a great honor.

Will Harbret, the colored groom who is Man O'War's gentleman's gentleman, swears that the horse, affectionately known as "Big Red" understands everything said to him. So Man O'War's best birthday present should be a whisper that Battleship, one of his sons, came home first in the Grand National at Aintree, the first American-bred horse ever to win that classic of British turfdom.

Lay Groundwork For 1938 Eleven

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — The groundwork for Ohio State's 1938 football team will be laid during the next six weeks as Coach Francis A. Schmidt drills 75 gridders. The initial workout was to be held today.

Schmidt expects to have 13 lettermen back on his squad next September, but it will be the reserves and freshmen of last season who will receive the major share of the attention during the spring drills.

Gimbel Sets Pace With 667 In C League

Rolls Games of 233, 211, and 223 to Lead Chips.

Charley Gimbel held the spotlight in the weekly Commercial C league matches at the Meder alleys last night.

Rolling with the Jackson Potato Chips, Gimbel cracked out a brilliant 667 total, which included games of 233, 211 and 223. He led the Chips to the high team count of 2697.

Barth Rallies, Beats Yarosz

CLEVELAND — (INS) — There was high celebration in the Italian colony here today, for Carmen Barth, a graduate of the local ranks, had taken his scrap with Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champ.

Fighting in the Arena before a slim crowd of 3,038, Carmen came back with all the courage in his 163-pound frame to stage a whirlwind finish and nullify the early rounds that Yarosz took in fine style. And a low blow in the seventh was very, very costly to Teddy.

The decision was split, and there were a few dissenters who thought Yarosz should have won.

Streaks Open Season Saturday Weak in Field, Distance Events

TRACK prospects at Mansfield high school will be determined Saturday when Coach Harry Mehock's Red Streaks open their 1938 season with Fremont Ross at Stadium field.

Despite the return of many lettermen, Mehock does not regard the prospects encouraging.

The track mentor indicated today that the squad appears particularly weak in the field and distance events, and championship chances this year depend on the development of athletes in these departments.

About the only field event in which the Streaks appear set is in the pole vault. This is John Linta's specialty, and the junior star is expected to be a consistent point accumulator in this event again this year.

Linta developed into one of the best vaulters in state schoolboy circles last year, and should be a serious contender for Ohio honors if he starts where he left off last summer.

The Streak star made his best showing in the A. A. U. meet in Pittsburgh last summer with a vault of 13 feet, 6 inches.

Mehock has three lettermen in Elmer Dials, Daryl Heiser and Paul Ballet for the high jump, and Johnny Kinkel, Barney Adams and Frank Pilo for the broad jump.

Harold Gallagher, Rich Nagle and Jack Dugger are showing up as the best of the shot putters. Nagle and Dugger are also showing promise with the discus as is Joe Majoy.

The Streaks stack up fairly strong in the sprints. Kinkel, Joe Logan and Ike Smith will represent the school in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Linta, Heiser and Dave Shelly give Mansfield a promising high hurdle trio, with Howard Heisly, George Bibbs and Dick Nichols showing up as the best of the lot in the lows.

Dick McMullen, Russ Bykstra, Bob Fleming, John Hallabrin and Dick Sampsel are the leading "440" candidates, the latter three being lettermen.

The more promising distance runners are Bob Donnan, Sam Welty, Fred Buzzard, Grant Clark, Dick Hamilton and Walter Rupp.

PLAINTIFFS BUY 3 PROPERTIES

Mansfield, Jefferson Land Sold At $1,400 Under Appraised Value.

The plaintiffs in two foreclosure actions against three Mansfield and Jefferson township properties purchased the land at a sheriff's sale at the courthouse for $1,400 less than the appraised valuations.

In a suit against B. B. Schrack, involving 60 acres of land near Bellville, Atty. Charles Freehafer, Mansfield, bid in the property for $1,000. It was appraised at $1,500 and Freehafer held a judgment against the land for $1,248.

Two lots at 5 Dirlam court, Mansfield, were sold to Atty. W. H. Lutz, trustee for W. J. Neidhart, for $3,600. Neidhart had obtained a judgment for $1,232 against Edward M. Foster, owner of the properties. The lots were appraised at $4,500.

South Dakota became in 1898 the first state to permit the initiating of legislation by the electorate.

An Ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Shepard Road and Overlook Road, Shepard Road from sanitary sewer rear of lot No. 9938 and running west in easement to south west corner of Inlot No. 9942, north along lot lines of Inlots No. 9942 and No. 9943 to Shepard Road, west in Shepard Road, to Inlot No. 9979 and No. 9980 to Overlook Road, west in Overlook Road to Inlot No. 9962, by the construction of a sanitary sewer therein, and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-Fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring:

Sec. 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Shepard Road and Overlook Road, from sanitary sewer rear of Inlot No. 9938 and running west in easement to south west corner of Inlot No. 9942, north along lot lines of Inlots No. 9942 and No. 9943 to Shepard Road, west in Shepard Road, to Inlot No. 9956; Overlook Road from sanitary sewer rear of Inlot No. 9938 west in easement to southwest corner of Inlot No. 9942, south in easement along Inlot No. 9979 and 9980 to Overlook Road, west in Overlook Road to Inlot No. 9962, by the construction of a sanitary sewer therein, in accordance with Resolution No. 38-9 passed February 1st, 1938, and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Sec. 2. That all claims for damage resulting therefrom shall be judicited Inquired into after completion of the proposed improvement.

Sec. 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, less One-Fiftieth thereof, shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Shepard Rd., and Overlook Rd. street as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law Forty Five Hundred Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in denominations of from 50 to 1,000 Dollars each, payable in from One to Three years, and bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, the cost thereof to-wit $100.00 shall be paid from a fund previously appropriated within the General Fund.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

Sec. 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined. All the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Shepard Road and Overlook Road between sanitary sewer rear lot No. 9938 in easements to lot No. 9956 and lot No. 9962.

Sec. 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with the moneys received, if any, from the cash payments of assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury; the accrued interest and premiums shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund, and the remaining portion of the purchase price of said bonds shall be placed to the credit of Shepard Rd. and Overlook Rd. street improvement fund and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvement aforesaid, and all moneys coming into said Shepard Rd. and Overlook Rd. street improvement fund are hereby appropriated for the purpose of said disbursements.

Sec. 6. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder, according to law.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed March 22, 1938.
Attest: WM. J. BEER, Jr.,
Clerk of Council.
K. P. TROLL,
President of Council.
Approved: C. M. HUNTER,
Mayor.

PAM—"Brave Man"! By A. W. Brewerton

MEANWHILE, BACK IN THE BIG CITY, CLARE GORDON WAS NATURALLY GREATLY DISTRESSED WHEN SHE HEARD OF DAVID'S LAMENESS!
GEE, SIS, IT COULD HAVE BEEN SO MUCH WORSE, Y'KNOW! I'M LIVING — AND THAT'S A LOT!!
YOU'RE ONE BRAVE MAN, BROTHER!
AND I CAN STILL CARRY ON AT THE F.B.I. —NOT LIKE I USED TO— —BUT— THERE'S PLENTY OF "SKULL WORK" TO DO!
AND— AND YOU'RE NOT MARRIED YET, ARE YOU, DAVID?
AH - NO, SIS, THAT HAS BEEN SORT OF INDEFINITELY POSTPONED - IN FACT I'M WONDERING IF IT'S FAIR TO WISH MYSELF ON ANYONE — AS I AM NOW!
DAVEY, WHAT'S THAT TO DO WITH IT, IF YOU REALLY LOVE THE GIRL—AND SHE, YOU?
NOT UNTIL HE WAS LEAVING WAS PAM MENTIONED — THOUGH DAVID WAS WILD TO HEAR ABOUT HER!
SORRY I MISSED PAM— HAVE YOU HEARD FROM HER, CLARE?
OH, YES, AND SHE ASKED ABOUT YOU, DAVID!
AND CLARE DIDN'T FAIL TO NOTE HOW HIS FACE LIT UP AT THE NEWS!

LEADERS SKID AS OFFERINGS UPSET MARKET

Wall Street Asserts Selling Inspired by Victory of Re-organization Bill.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Selling lessened appreciably in the stock market today after leaders had tobogganed 1 to around 3 points in early dealings.

Overnight offerings, Wall Street circles said, were inspired partly by the victory of the re-organization bill in the senate, although some brokers were of the opinion this hardly was a prime influence and that the gloom was enhanced mainly by the feebleness of Monday's rally.

Bonds and commodities were inclined to slip. Rubber Futures broke sharply as the International Rubber regulation committee at London took no action to cut present export quotas.

In the search for trend clues, brokerage quarters noted trade surveys indicating the impact of the current recession seemed to have hit industrial centers much harder than farming districts.

While both farm income and factory payrolls were estimated to have fallen sharply in the first quarter from the corresponding months last year, the set-back in the latter was believed to have been almost a third greater than the loss experienced by rural communities.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO—(AP)—(U. S. D. of A.)—Lamb prices moved up sharply today although receipts were fairly liberal. Hogs, on the contrary, continued their lower trend and the undertone was bearish not only on hogs but also on cattle despite relatively small receipts of the latter. All slaughter classes of cattle were fully steady due to supply abridgement. Hogs: Receipts 15,000, including 5000 direct; marked slow; mostly 15c to 25c lower than Friday's average; top $9.25; strictly good and choice 170-240 lbs. $9@9.25; 250-350 lbs. $8.50@8.85; 140-160 lbs. $8.75@9.15; good 350-550-lb. packing sows $7.65@8; small butcher kinds $8.10@8.25. Cattle: Receipts 9500, calves 1500; fed steers and yearlings slow; strictly good and choice offerings firm on shipper account; others steady, small receipts a bullish factor but sluggish dressed market discounting this development; heifers firm, cows scarce, steady; bulls and vealers firm, best fed steers $10; yearlings $9.50; heifers $9 practical top weighty sausage bulls $6.25; choice vealers $10; lights $6.50@8. Sheep: Receipts 10,000, including 500 direct.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Agr.)—Trading was very quiet on the Boston wool market yesterday, but quotations on domestic wools were steady to fairly firm. The movement of combing quarter blood fleece wools which has recently been a feature of the business on the Boston market has shown signs of slackening. Some of the topmakers who have recently taken orders for quarter blood tops have reported that they are pretty well covered on raw wool and that further interest in wool awaits new orders on tops.

WHICH IS BEST?

These days it pays to make comparisons when buying a car. If you are wondering "Which is the Best Low-Priced Car?" here are facts that will help you decide. The New Plymouth has many outstanding qualities that especially merit your consideration...

IT'S THE BEST ENGINEERED LOW-PRICED CAR!

FIRST CONSIDER the size of the leading low-priced cars. The new Plymouth is nearly 7 inches longer than one; more than 10 inches longer than the other!

Never before have the many important differences among low-priced cars so clearly evidenced the greater values the big, new Plymouth offers you today.

HOW TO JUDGE

Which is Better—a simple engine of fewer parts or a more complicated engine of many parts? All Plymouth models have a big, 82-horsepower, six-cylinder "L-head" engine—with fewer parts to cause wear and noise. Owners report 18 to 24 miles per gallon of gas.

Which is Better—pistons with 4 rings, or 3? 4-ring pistons do a better job of sealing compression in, oil out, with the advantage of better performance and more economy. The new Plymouth's pistons have 4 rings.

Which is Better—an X-braced frame, or one with only parallel cross members? Nearly all automobile manufacturers agree that X-bracing is the strongest bracing known, and the new Plymouth has it.

Which is Better—metal-to-metal contact between frame and body, or the use of rubber insulators to absorb road rumble and vibration? Plymouth blocks out road vibration with "live" rubber body mountings ...much as Floating Power engine mountings eliminate engine vibration.

TWO BRAKING SYSTEMS

Which is Better—two braking systems or one? The new Plymouth's handbrake operates entirely separately from the service brakes. And remember—Plymouth's service brakes are the famous double-action hydraulics.

So it is throughout the big, beautiful new Plymouth—basic advantages which Plymouth alone offers in a low-priced car.

5-PASSENGER SEDAN
Illustrated above
$685

This is the Detroit delivered price. Other models as low as $645. And Plymouth prices INCLUDE ALL FEDERAL TAXES. State, local taxes are not included. Remember, the only way to know this beautiful 1938 Plymouth is to see it and drive it...compare it with other low-priced cars. PLYMOUTH DIVISION OF CHRYSLER CORPORATION, Detroit, Michigan.

TUNE IN MAJOR BOWES' AMATEUR HOUR, C. B. S. NETWORK, THURS., 9 to 10 P.M., E.S.T.

You cannot know all you should know about today's low-priced car values until you see and drive the big, beautiful new Plymouth. Telephone any Dodge, DeSoto or Chrysler dealer for a demonstration. There's absolutely no obligation.

COUNTY SALES TAX RECEIPTS OFF ONE-THIRD

Collections In First 10 Weeks of Year Drop $31,800, Show Effects of Recession.

Sales tax collections, which provide the schools with about a third of their operating funds and contribute liberally to relief and general funds of municipalities, dropped off $31,891 in Richland county in the first 10 weeks of this year as compared with the same period of 1937.

Figures released today by State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley show a greater decline in Richland county than in most other counties of the state and indicate that industrial centers are harder hit by the "recession" than farm communities.

While most of the state's better agricultural counties showed slight decreases, the only three counties in Ohio to report increased sales tax receipts over last year are on the Ohio river and almost 100 per cent rural. They are Brown, Gallia and Meigs counties.

Worst Week In March.

Tax collections in Richland county for the period ending March 12 were $67,673 as compared with $99,564 last year. The greatest contrast was in the collections for the second week of this month and the same week of last March. The 1938 figure was $6,543, a decrease of $5,151 from receipts for the same week in 1937.

The state treasurer's report for other counties in the Richland area for the 10-week period last year and in 1938 are:

Ashland, $36,324 in 1937 and $26,752 in 1938, Crawford, $38,796 in 1937 and $26,353 in 1938; Huron, $37,997 in 1937 and $29,967 in 1938; Knox, $30,221 in 1937 and $22,601 in 1938; Morrow $6,801 in 1937 and $4,844 in 1938.

Receipts for the entire state fell off from $8,586,574 last year to $6,816,797.

EXTENDED DAY

Personal Taxes Lag, Deadline Set for Saturday.

Because of lagging personal tax receipts, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe announced today that personal tax blanks and payments will be received without penalty until noon Saturday. The deadline originally was set for Friday.

Only 3,400 of an estimated 6,000 personal accounts had been paid today, and collections totaled less than $45,000. Total amount due is more than $100,000.

Property owners may obtain help in filling out their blanks at the auditor's office in the courthouse. Six deputies have been stationed at desks in the lobby on the first floor to provide information concerning property listings and the method used in filing the blanks and making payments

Persons who own more than $100 worth of tangible or intangible personal property are required to file returns. Included in the personal property classification are livestock, farm equipment, office and factory equipment, stocks, bonds, notes, mortgages and money in safety deposit boxes

2 FATAL CLAIMS FILED IN COUNTY

119 Other Industrial Compensation Cases Listed in February.

Two industrial workers were fatally injured while on duty in Richland county last month and 119 claims were filed with the Ohio Industrial commission according to the commission's monthly report

The two fatalities one of whom was Samuel Barth, Mansfield were the most reported in the county in several months. Barth was killed Feb 4 in an explosion at the M Frank and Son brewery

Six injuries reported in the county during February caused permanent partial disability, while there were 91 medical only cases. The total time lost was 17 609 days.

Fatal claims for the entire state totaled 94 a reduction of 19 from the preceding month

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

By DR. WILLARD L. SPERRY

Tuesday, March 29. "Honour thy father and thy mother." Read Mark 7:6-13.

The philosopher Hegel says that tragedy arises not from the conflict of good with evil, but from the collision of two wholly worthy loyalties which at a given moment cannot be squared. In this sense of the word we all live tragic lives, because we are torn apart by the valid claims of rival interests and duties In particular we never satisfactorily solve the stubborn problem of the conflicting rights of our private world on the one hand, and our public business or profession on the other hand Shall we stay quietly at home this evening, or must we hurry out again to the office or to some committee meeting?

All reform movements—religion included—have a way of breeding very inhuman humanitarians. Such zealots the more they get wrapt up in large programs for social betterment become increasingly insensible to the persons who are nearest to them. They come perilously close to sacrificing the members of their homes to an abstract Moloch whom they have set up as an idol in their own minds There is a point beyond which one cannot safely do this Jesus rebuked such persons in his own day.

Prayer: O God, who has set us in families, give us wisdom to cherish and affection to nurture those closest of our human ties through which we first learn the nature of the whole family of God through Jesus Christ our Lord Amen.

JAIL QUARANTINE UPSETS JUSTICE

Scarlet Fever Keeps Sheriff On 'Hot Spot.'

YORKVILLE, Ill.—(AP)—It was sort of disturbing to have them tack a "Keep Out—Scarlet Fever" sign on the Kendall county jail door

It meant that Sheriff William Maier went home to live with his father for a while.

The sheriff's daughters, Joanne, 9, and Shirley, 7, were confined to their apartment in the jail building

Two minor offenders were incarcerated indefinitely.

And the lone prisoner awaiting trial couldn't even get to court."

SENTENCED IN WIFE'S DEATH

URBANA—(AP)—Raymond Godwin was under sentence today of from one to 20 years in Ohio penitentiary for manslaughter in the shooting of his estranged wife, Helen.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonic, vitamin B1. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

$180,000 IN TAX ADVANCES OK'D

Most of Revenue Goes to City and Rural School Boards For Operating Funds.

Tax advances totaling $180,350 against the collection of real estate and special assessment levies just completed had been approved today by County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe.

The regular distribution of the $600,000 in tax receipts for the first half of the year will not be made until June, Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said.

Of the total amount advanced to county sub-division, $175,000 will go to Mansfield and rural school districts, with the Mansfield schools receiving $117,000 in two advances.

Other school boards which will receive advance settlements are: Shelby, $26,600; Springfield township, $12,400; Union rural, $6,400; Bellville, $4,400; Lexington, $6,500; Mifflin township, $1,100; Cass township, $200, and Bloominggrove township, $600.

Only three villages have requested early settlements. They are Bellville, which received $2,700; Shiloh, $400, and Plymouth, $700. Most of the funds are for bond retirement.

Mifflin and Weller townships requested $850 for their road funds, the Mifflin trustees receiving $500 and Weller township, $350.

RECORD VOLUME OF MORTGAGES MOVED QUICKLY

Six to Eight Days Average Period Required to Work Through Applications.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Receipt of a record-breaking volume of home-mortgage insurance applications has not interfered with the rapid processing of cases by the 67 state and district insuring offices of the Federal Housing administration.

According to Frederick M. Babcock, Director of the administration's underwriting division, even the large-volume offices are still able to process the majority of applications in six or eight days. The maximum time allowed for processing cases which present special problems is still 15 days.

"Many state and district insuring offices are reporting a weekly volume of business 200 per cent greater than that received in recent months. It is our belief that, in spite of this fact, there will be little change in the average processing time of the majority of cases," Babcock said.

"Improved underwriting techniques have made it possible for the field offices to increase their efficiency materially, and I believe that we will be able to render the same service as that given in the past.

"Even with the slight delays which we know will occur during the next month, it takes very little longer to obtain an FHA-insured mortgage than an uninsured loan. The extra time is well worth while both to the borrower and the lender."

Babcock pointed out that, while the Federal Housing administration has worked constantly to devise ways and means of reducing the time required for the processing of applications, it has never adopted any measures which could impair the soundness of the underwriting procedure.

"While we have always recognized the prime importance of promptness in our underwriting procedures, we will not sacrifice quality to quantity," said Mr. Babcock.

"We have, for some time past, set 15 days as the maximum time allowable for the processing of an individual case in a field insuring office.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Scientific jobs are scarce too.

"He was the mildest, gentlest man I ever met," the scientist said. "He sat in my office and told me his story."

He was, it developed, from a monastery not far from New York city. He had been there five years in his novitiate.

But he had not taken the vows. This was on account of his sister.

"My sister," he said, "is slowly starving to death. She can get no work. I think I ought to think first of her.

"I have decided to go to work to make money for her. But I cannot find any work. The sort of thing you do here is the only thing I know—all I am trained for."

But he did not get a job in the scientific institution. In many, although not all institutions, science has been cut harder than other activities.

A few industries have taken up more research, as a means of meeting depression problems. According to the Mellon Institute, some of these industries have profited by increasing science in the face of the depression. But not many of those in control of money have followed such a policy.

HEAR RADIO MAN

Kiwanis to Have Program Director As Speaker Thursday.

Byron Williams of Columbus, program director for the Ohio State University radio station WOSU, will address members of the Kiwanis club at their luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Williams recently returned from a six-month stay in London where he was sent by the Rockefeller Foundation to study foreign broadcasting. His topic, "John Bull Broadcasts", deals with British methods of broadcasting. Fred B. Wolff is program chairman of the meeting.

SENIORS PICK COURT COMEDY

'Ladies of the Jury,' 3-Act Play, to Be Presented by Class In May.

"Ladies of the Jury", a comedy in three acts, will be presented by the June graduating class of the Senior high school, Earl L. Heasley, dramatic instructor at the school, who will also direct the play, announced today.

The cast will include 10 girls and 12 boys, one of the largest ever to present a class play at the school. Tryouts for roles will begin Thursday, and it is expected to have the entire cast selected before spring vacation begins next week.

Rehearsals will begin after the spring vacation. The tentative date for the play is Friday, May 20.

Dates of four other graduation activities for the June class also were announced today by Earl Mann, advisor of the class. The class party and dance will be held May 27 at the school. Class day is set for June 3. Baccalaureate service Sunday, June 5, and commencement exercises Thursday, June 9. According to present plans, commencement exercises will begin at 6 p. m., and will be held at Stadium Field. In case of rain the program will be shifted to the gymnasium.

BILLS READY

7,500 to Get Water, Sewer Rental Statements Friday.

Approximately 7,500 water consumers on the west side of Main street will receive their sewer rental bills along with water bills Friday, Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage department announced today.

The statements total approximately $50,000 and will be placed in the mails Thursday. Payments are due at the office of the water department in the city building between April 1 and April 15.

Of the total billing, $37,000 represents the water statements while sewer rental charges amount to $13,000, Lingafelter said.

He urged persons mailing in checks for their service to enclose the stub from their bill in order to identify their account and also asked those making payment at the water department offices not to neglect bringing along the bill.

CHAPTER XXX

"Thee esposa—thees wife of my cousin, Manuel, Margarita — she ees one beeg, beeg woman, like you know, Don Murray, but gets 'round like she was a leetle bird. An' I theenk she has six ears maybee. Eef Senora Ortega she goeeng to have one babee—Margarita she knows eet before the Senora Ortega knows eet. Bueno! Thees Margarita, then, she tell me she hear that one very bad old woman whose name she ees Francesca Hernandez, but she ees called manee other theengs . . . Well, thees old woman she ees working at thee house of Red Vasquez. And thees morning she goes to one cantina for some vino and she meets one other woman who ees her seester, and she make some joke about she buys wine for a veesitor at the Casa Vasquez, and then they talk some more and the old woman act veree funneee, her seester theenk. So her seester she goes to see other peoples and prettee soon she finds out sombodee she see a taxi at thee Casa Vasquiz early in thee morning and a woman she gets out, weeth Gregorio."

* * *

"That's what Pablo said," broke in Murray. "That he thought Miss Castle was at Vasquez's house. He'd heard something, too."

"Well, that's w'at I theenk, Don Murray," said Jose. "And so w'at, huh?"

Murray studied the glowing end of his cigaret a moment before he replied. Then:

"Let's go take a look at this Casa Vasquez," he said. "Maybe something will occur to us."

"That, she's a good idea," assented Jose. "I betcha we find out sometheeng. We go thees way, Don Murray."

They soon came within sight of the house, and Jose was pointing it out to Murray, when the house door opened and a man came out.

* * *

"Red Vasquez," he said. "We shall watch heem, but not let heem watch us, eh?"

Cautiously they watched the figure of Vasquez. Saw him come to the walk, pause to look about, then go down the street away from where they were standing. And not until his figure had been diminished by the distance of two full blocks, not till he had then crossed the street and disappeared up a narrow side street, did they venture forth.

"Now," said Murray, then, "I think we can reconnoiter more closely. We know where he is, anyhow."

Slowly they approached the big yellow frame building, appearing to pay as little attention as possible, yet scrutinizing it in every detail. Two-story residences are rare in Tijuana. This one was surrounded by tall eucalyptus trees, so that it was with difficulty that the windows of the upper story could be seen.

* * *

It was when they had gotten some fifty yards beyond the house that an opening in the foliage of the trees revealed a small barred window in the upper story. They stopped and regarded this with natural suspicion. No face appeared behind the bars, but that barred window, taken together with what Jose had told him, led Murray to a swift conclusion. He would gain entrance to this Casa de Vasquez and find out if Carmen—if Sue—were a prisoner therein. Vasquez was absent. He would scarcely suspect any such bold invasion of his own residence—would scarcely suspect that Sue Castle's friends were already in possession of information pointing to her whereabouts. Hence it was hardly probable that the house was strongly guarded. Undoubtedly the old woman Jose had told him of was there, but that would just have to be too bad for her.

"I'm going into that house," Murray told Jose. "You wait here—or at the corner—and see what happens. If I don't come out, you get the others and raid the place. But I believe Sue is there. And I'm going to get her."

Jose scratched his chin and looked sidewise at Murray. Then shrugged, lighted a cigaret and said:

"Okay, Don Murray. I theenk you weel have thee fight, but also I theenk that ees w'at you want—no?"

"If Red Vasquez comes back before I get out of the house, you try to keep him away."

"Sure," assented Jose. "W'en he see me, he weel start to shoot at me. Then I weel run, and he weel chase me. And I weel run so fast as he weel not be able to catch me unteel we get to Cuba. Then eet weel take heem a long time to get back. I betcha."

Murray smiled. The more he saw of Jose, the more he appreciated him. Young Kilbourne made up his mind quickly. Audacity was the word, he felt. And acting upon this hunch, he walked to the house, entered the yard, knocked firmly upon the door. Then, with only a little space between, knocked again, as would someone in haste.

"Quien es?" demanded a woman's voice.

"It is I, Ramon, with a message for Senor Vasquez," replied Murray promptly, in Spanish. "An urgent message."

"He is not here," the voice answered. "But he will return shortly."

A lock was turned and the door opened a space."

* * *

Without hesitation Murray put a hand upon the door, and thrust it inward, following it himself. The hag screeched and clawed at him with one hand as she tried to shut the door with the other, but Murray kicked the door shut, seized the old woman and carried her kicking into the pantry, where he locked her up.

Swiftly then he inspected the house, but always on the lookout for some guard, some follower of Vasquez. Any door he opened might reveal such a man. But did not. And so at last he came to the locked door on the upper floor.

"Sue," he called—then realized his indiscretion. "Carmen—Carmen—are you there?"

A choked voice answered him at last.

"Go away, Murray. Please go away. I'll—I'll be all right."

Murray studied the door. It was a strong door, and there was no key in the lock. Perhaps he could break it down. Assuredly the old woman had the key, but to get it from her would mean a nasty fight—delay—dangerous delay.

The lock tore loose beneath the impacts of his shoulders sooner than he expected, and Murray plunged into the room and almost into the arms of the girl who was standing ther e wide-eyed, arms outstretched as though to push away something she feared.

TAKE STEPS TO GRADE CITY'S MILK SUPPLY

Health Officers Will Begin Inspection of Producers, Distributors Friday.

Health department sanitation officers Friday will begin an inspection of Mansfield's milk supply which will continue until all producers and distributors have been checked and the grade of milk announced.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said the work will be completed by April 15 when all milk sold in Mansfield will bear a bottlecap showing the quality of the product. Under the ordinance, the use of caps is mandatory after May 1, and only grade "A" raw and grades "A" and "B" pasteurized milk may be sold to the final consumer.

The strict enforcement of the United States Public Health Service milk ordinance adopted by the Mansfield board of health nearly three years ago, was ordered last fall after the board turned down a mandatory measure designed to allow only pasteurized milk products to be sold in the city.

Producers and distributors were given until April 1 to "fix-up" at which time the grading period ends and inspections are made.

Based on Quality.

Grading of the milk is based on the quality of the product itself and various points of sanitation in the production and distribution.

Producers and distributors who fail to meet standards set forth in the ordinance will have their product "degraded" by health authorities, Dr. Rehder said. The "degrading" period will be in force only as long as the producer or distributor fails to meet the sanitation requirements.

During the "degrading" period all bottle caps will be required to show the grade of the milk. Health department offices will have a supply of "degrading period" caps on hand for purchase by the distributor or producer whose product has been penalized.

Dr. Rehder pointed out that not only is the producer and the distributor penalized if he fails to keep his product up to standard, but the retailer who sells the product and must display a card indicating the lowest grade of milk sold in his establishment, also must change the card under the provisions embodied in the ordinance.

MEET ON PARKS

C. of C. and Garden Clubs to Continue Pushing Plan.

The parks and city beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce in a meetung last night discussed a city parks project submitted to city council, which calls for the expenditure of $25,000, largely WPA funds to improve and rehabilitate Mansfield's public parks.

The proposal calls for an appropriation of $6,000 to meet the city's share of the cost of the project. WPA has agreed to furnish $19,000 as its share.

Representatives of the city's five garden clubs, present at the meeting, pledged to lend their co-operation to get the program in operation.

A sub-committee reported that practically every civic group in the city had submitted resolutions to council asking action be taken on the project.

A Farmer's Diary

THIS was another perfect spring day. Frost was white on all the fields and glittered in the morning sun, but only for a few brief hours. The wind grew warmer and in a short time much of the moisture on the grass was gone

The fields are greener and the buds of fruit trees have pushed out farther than I believe I have ever seen for this time of year. The birds returned a little earlier, and the thunder showers of the past few weeks were as fickle and spontaneous as those of May or June.

Today I saw a robin bathe herself three different times in the clear edge of the flowing brook, then flap its wet wings in mockery of flight. I saw another on a last year's flower bed, cocking its busy head and listening for the slimy angleworm. A dart so quick no human eye could follow—and he held his wriggling prey firmly in his beak.

In the lush grass of the lawn I laid down flat upon my stomach just to feel the coolness of the grass upon my face and body and to smell the fragrance of its fresh greenness.

I put my ear down close against the sod. I heard the movements of the crawling worms beneath, the moisture soaking through — and best of all I felt and heard the grass blades growing—this miracle of seed and clod. —By C. A. B.

FASCISTS HEAR SURRENDER CRY

its environs were blown up.

Meanwhile, insurgent headquarters issued a communique containing what was believed to be a final warning to the loyalists to abandon a "lost cause."

"The nationalist regime is opposed to the use of force," it said.

"Daily we are dropping from airplanes invitations to the enemy to surrender. Generalissimo Francisco Franco does not wish to increase the rivers of blood flowing through Spain.

"But if people in the enemy zone do not react against their executioners and oppressors, we shall be obliged to take Lerida, Barcelona, Valencia and anything else necessary to finish the war with a whole-hearted effort."

Battlements constructed at Lerida centuries ago during the many conflicts that ancient city has known were held partly responsible for delays encountered by the insurgents in taking it. The entire city is forfeited and is topped by an imposing citadel, surrounded by a deep moat, which affords decided advantage to the defenders over besieging forces.

War Ends In 2 to 3 Weeks, Writer Says.

(Editor's Note: Spain's Civil war is "virtually over" with the insurgents victorious and Barcelona facing capture within two or three weeks. This is the opinion today of H. R. Knickerbocker, International News Service correspondent, who spent many months watching the fighting in Spain, who saw the Ethiopian and Sino-Japanese wars, and who gained from personal experience an inside knowledge of how wars are fought and won.)

* * *

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

PARIS—The Spanish war is virtually over.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has won, and the Loyalist government would capitulate today were it not for Communist pressure.

It will take Franco two or three weeks to capture Barcelona at his present rate of progress, if Loyalist resistance continues, according to foreign military observers.

The Spanish government front is crumbling, but still is held by fanatical red battalions composed of men who know they have nothing to await but death, anyway, when Franco's troops march in.

Franco apparently is determined to drive straight to Barcelona, instead of following his original plan to march to the Mediterranean sea because his paramount desire is to cut off Catalonia's communications with France.

In addition to that the Loyalist government is at Barcelona as well as the principal Loyalist munitions plants.

By occupying the Catalonian-French frontier, Franco will be able to isolate the Loyalists completely from the outside world since their sea-borne traffic now is almost choked off by the Italo-Franco blockade.

Franco's anxiety to check any possible 11th-hour help to the Loyalists from France, however, is not necessary.

Both France and England have now abandoned hope for the Spanish government, which they half-heartedly supported in the same manner and with the same results as England supported Haile Selassie in Ethiopia.

Senior officers of the French army, who consider an eventual war with Germany, inevitable, are reflecting today how much cheaper it would have been to have helped the Spanish Loyalist government effectively at the start of the Spanish war than it will cost the French army to defend its southern frontier when fighting for life and death on the northern border.

More important is the fact that Franco, and his friends—France's enemies — Germany and Italy, gain potential control of the Mediterranean, the route for transporting French troops from Morocco and Tunis to the mainland.

BARES 'HOT MIX' PRICE BOOST

Engineer Testifies Figures Mysteriously Raised From $8.75 to $10.80.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—E. Victor Waterloo, highway department engineer, testified today that mysterious changes in department estimates raised the price of "hot mix" road material for a Guernsey county project from $9.75 a cubic yard to $10.80.

Waterloo, in charge of making estimates of the fair price of road materials, said he entered the lower figure but that it was erased by someone unknown to him and the higher figure substituted.

Testifying in the taxpayer's suit of Mrs. Agnes Dickinson who seeks to recover from contractors $6,000,000 allegedly "wasted" on road projects, Waterloo said "anyone could have done it."

The Guernsey county project was estimated in May, 1936.

The $9.75 figure was set after consultation with Harry A. Sparks, former department engineer, Waterloo said. Sparks' position was abolished recently after he testified before the senate graft investigating committee that the state paid exorbitant prices for road materials.

Sparks, Waterloo said, was not consulted about the raise in price.

LILY WEDS SOON

Opera-Movie Star To Become Bride of Kostelanetz.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (INS) — Lily Pons, Metropolitan opera star, and Andre Kostelanetz, orchestra leader, probably will marry within two weeks, but the Atlantic ocean will separate them on their honeymoon. Miss Pons, here for a concert, declared she would wed the maestro before she departed for a European concert tour, but Kostelanetz, committed to radio engagements, will remain at home.

ILLNESS FATAL

J. A. Sheidler, 78, Succumbs at Home In Galion.

GALION—John Adam Sheidler, 78, of 451 West Railroad street, died Monday afternoon at his home following an illness of several years.

He was born Oct. 8, 1859, in Henry county, Ohio, the son of Henry and Margaret (Steinbaugh) Sheidler. His marriage 56 years ago was to Margaret Rife, who died in 1924.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Stella Burkholder of Caledonia, Mrs. Myrtle Burkholder, Delbert Sheidler, and Miss Lola Sheidler, all of Galion; six grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Lena Kodger of Galion, and two brothers, Anthony Sheidler of Mansfield and A. J. Sheidler of Outlook, Wash.

The deceased was a carpenter by trade.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Volk funeral home here. Rev. O. E. Knepp, pastor of the United Brethren church, will officiate. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

PLAN TOMORROW FOR PLAYLOTS

Recreation Board to Employ Playground Directors During Summer.

Plans for operating Mansfield municipal playgrounds for the ninth summer season will be mapped at a meeting of the Mansfield recreation board at 5 p. m. Wednesday at Boy Scout headquarters in the Elks' building.

The board will also employ a director to head the playlots for the summer, and consider applications for ground supervisors, Floyd Dent, board chairman, announced.

Two new members have been named to the board by Mayor Claude M. Hunter. Carl Stough has been appointed to replace Ray Ross who has moved to Ashland, and P. R. Tappan will replace O. C. Stanley, whose term expired Jan. 1. Tappan was named to the board the first of the year.

Money remaining in the recreation fund will be used in operating the playgrounds, although the playground levy was defeated at the last election.

SHOT TO DEATH

19 More Face Firing Squads On Moscow Treason Charges.

MOSCOW—(INS) — Execution of 19 additional former Soviet officials on treason charges was revealed here today.

The victims included M. Kulumbetov, former president, and M. Yeskareyev, former prosecutor of Kazakstan. They were shot to death on March 13 following a week's trial in Camera.

CITES TIMING AS HITLER KEY TO 'SUCCESS'

Writer Points Out Dictator Moves When Opposition Has Troublesome Times.

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

NEW YORK—A fine example of the Hitlerian strategy and timing which have carried him from one success to another may be had if you will take the trouble to piece together the jig-saw puzzle of the present phase of European politics.

He is proceeding briskly with his creation of a great Germanic confederation. When Der Fuehrer moves that way it means that conditions in the camp of the opposition look good to him.

He doesn't want to go to war to carry out his plans, and so is taking the course of least resistance. In Czechoslovakia — Bonanza of central Europe—he has entrusted the task to its German citizens and they total 25 per cent of the population. Already they have forced the Praha government to concede that German districts shall be administered by German-Czechoslovakians.

Now they have intensified their drive for complete antonomy. At the same time Hitler has been making speeches up north in east Prussia, near the ports of Danzig and Memel — cities taken from Germany after the World war.

France In Trouble.

Having observed all this activity, one knows almost without investigating that things aren't going well with France, little Czechoslovakia's sworn ally. France is so torn with her political crisis that she can scarcely be expected to pay much attention to outside interests.

At the same time, Hitler undoubtedly has marked well the freshly announced policy of the British government—that of non-intervention by arms unless English interests are directly concerned.

Concurrently, Mussolini has served notice on France that if the latter intervenes in the Spanish revolution, it means trouble. This naturally further districts France's attention from central and eastern Europe.

Czechoslovakia, gem of central Europe, is one of the richest countries on the continent.

The Republic has an area of 54,000 square miles. It is bigger than England, three times the size of Denmark, and four times as large as Holland Forty-two per cent of this area is suitable for farming and the country is rich in agriculture.

Czechoslovakia has many thriving industries. There are the famous Skoda Works, employing some 35,000 persons—half of the manufacture of heavy machinery and half on armaments. War munitions are exported all over the world in huge quantities.

There are the Bata Shoe plants, producing 120,000 pairs daily in Czechoslovakia alone, not to mention their foreign factories. More than 400 breweries, including the world famous plants at Pilsen, turn out more than two hundred million gallons of beer.

The total number of factories runs to more than 11,000. The country is rich in timber, and has coal, iron, graphite, garnets, silver, copper and lead.

Class Meeting—The C. H. Huston Sunday school class of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church.

Mansfield Girl Awarded Highest Scouting Honor

Mary Gage, 17, Senior high school girl, is the proud owner today of a Golden Eaglet decoration, the highest award of girl scouting, and the only Mansfield girl ever to receive the honor.

Mary received her gold badge yesterday afternoon at First Congregational church, in the presence of Troop 2, of which she is a junior lieutenant, and members of the Girl Scout council. The presentation was made by Mrs. William M. Layton of the council.

The Golden Eaglet is given for efficiency in every phase of Girl Scout activities, including outdoor life, camping, swimming, nature study, cooking and sewing, life saving, wood cutting, knowledge of signaling and many others. Although only 21 merit badges are necessary for a Golden Eaglet decoration, Mary had 25 to her credit.

Mary, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Gage, 128 Western avenue, also has an unusual attendance record. She took up Girl Scout work seven years ago at her home in Springfield, Mass., and continued it in Mansfield after she came here with her parents several years ago. During that time she has never missed a regular meeting of her troop.

OK'S INQUIRY

House Committee Approves Senate's TVA Probe.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house rules committee approved today a senate resolution for a thorough congressional investigation of all phases of the Tennessee Valley Authority's operations.

Chairman O'Connor (D.-N. Y.), said only minor, perfecting amendments were approved and that the resolution probably would be brought before the house tomorrow for a vote.

He said the committee left in senate provisions which will permit a proposed senate-housing inquiry committee of ten members to investigate also private utilities which have brought suits against TVA.

The senate approved the investigation last week as a result of dissension among the three TVA directors, which culminated in President Roosevelt's removal of Chairman Arthur Morgan.

BERLIN WARNS CZECHS, FLAYS PREMIER'S TALK

Holds Proposals to Give New Era for German Minorities 'Hardly Satisfactory.'

(By United Press)

BERLIN — A warning to Czechoslovakia regarding the treatment of German minorities was given today by the diplomatic political correspondence, agency of the foreign office, which found Premier Milan Hodza's proposals "disappointing."

"A bad minority policy is bound in the long run to affect dangerously both the internal situation and international relations of a country responsible for it," the agency said in commenting upon the premier's speech promising a new era for minorities.

"The right of foregn countries to take an active interest in the problems raised by Prague's minority policy is in no wise restricted to cases foreseen by international law," it said, adding that the premier's speech was "hardly satisfactory and in many respects contradictory."

Hold Speech 'Compromise.'

Inspired comment made available to the foreign press suggested that Hodza's speech "was a mere compromise" in dealing with the Czechoslovakia minority problem and that it would be considered insufficient to German quarters.

"Only spontaneous and radical solution would bring real internal peace in Czechoslovakia, thereby removing a factor of European tension," the foreign office agency said.

The comment said it was not clear whether Hodza envisaged a new minority regime, merely ratifying the methods applied heretofore "which several minorities in Czechoslovakia, including the Germans, deem inadequate," or whether he intends to go beyond earlier methods.

Berlin, the comment showed, is skeptical and considers it unlikely that the Hodza government will grant full autonomy to the Germans, as was urged by Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German party.

RIVER TURNS ON WRONG NUMBERS

Floods Conduit, Flashes 2,000 Calls on Utility's Switchboard.

LYNCHBURG, Va. —(AP)— The James river turned the tide on Lynchburg's telephone operators.

Flooding an underground conduit, the river flashed 2,000 calls simultaneously on the battery of telephone switchboards.

The operators, after their frantic cries of "number please" remained unanswered, informed repairmen who quickly found the difficulty and remedied it.

HOUSE BATTLE OPENS ON BILL

demand public hearings on the senate bill.

"The comptroller general, the people in government and the civil service commission should be called," he said, "so that the people may know the facts and learn whether this bill should be passed."

Chairman John O'Connor, D., N Y., of the house rules committee, declared himself opposed to the whole reorganization idea.

"The house special (reorganization) committee might well let the bill peacefully slumber in some cob-webbed pigeonhole," he said. "This is no time to further inflame the people by such a legislative gesture.

"Right or wrong, the bill would lend nothing toward the problem of solving unemployment—it might tend in the opposite direction—and surely it has no relation whatsoever to reassuring a much abused business world."

O'Connor noted that the bill would not have to pass through the bottle-neck of his rules committee, which is the case with all house measures except those originating in the appropriations and ways and means committees. A special clause in the resolution creating the house reorganization committee gave its bills privileged status.

Gave Everybody a 'Break,' Bulkley Says.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Senator Robert J. Bulkley, D., O., today explained that he "gave everybody a break' in switching his vote on the re-organization bill in the senate yesterday.

Bulkley, only senator to change his stand on the two roll calls, first voted to send the measure back to committee. After the senate defeated the recommittal motion, Bulkley voted with the majority for passage of the bill.

"I gave everybody a break and voted both ways," he said.

Senator Vic Donahey, D., O., followed his announced intention of opposing the re-organization proposal on both roll calls.

Bulkley in his explanation said "The bill had a number of bad features which I think should have had further consideration in committee. But since the senate did not see fit to recommit, I saw no good in further delay.

"I have complete confidence in the president in carrying out the re-organization provided in the bill. While arguments against the bill had some force, I think they were exaggerated."

On each roll call, he waited until the clerk had completed the first reading and then announced his vote.

GETS READY TO TALK GAS RATES

Council Committee to Take Up Question Soon; Present Measure Expires In May.

rate ordinance would be resubmitted for approval or if a lower rate would be sought by the committee.

"All I can say is that we will attempt to get the best possible rate for the consumers," he said.

The present rates are a sharp reduction from the ones collected under the preceding rate ordinance, and in accepting it, the company refunded to consumers more than $250,000. This represented the difference between the rate the utility had been collectng under bond since 1931 and the rates embodied in the four-year ordinance passed to take effect after that date, but which the company had refused to accept.

Denies Jury 'Misled' In Gas Indictments.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Denying charges that the grand jury which indicted 15 officials on counts of fraud, falsifying reports and selling diluted natural gas in Ohio was "misled," County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett today made plans to arraign the men within the next few days.

"We're going to give them a chance to appear in court of their own volition and if they don't we'll take the usual steps to insure their appearance," Bartlett declared.

"As for the statement made by Weaver (Charles I. Weaver, Springfield, president of the Ohio Fuel Gas company) I can say that the grand jury went into the charges carefully and with a great deal of consideration."

Weaver, in claiming the jury was misled, said:

"We have reason to believe that distorted information, emanating from persons engaged in private lawsuit with the Ohio Fuel Gas company, has been given to the grand jury, which has thus unwittingly become the instrument of furthering the object of that litigation."

Twelve indictements were returned by the jury. Two companies were named, the Ohio Fuel Gas company, and the Columbus Gas and Fuel company, now merged with the former.

Two of the indictments charged rendering a false bill to a municipality and receiving payment from a municipality on a false bill; two for obtaining money under false pretenses and eight for perjury.

The indictments followed the filing of a $42,000,000 suit Sept. 18, 1937, by City Attorney John L. Davies, charging dilution of natural gas with inert gas.

While Bartlett indicated he would institute extradition proceedings should the out-of-state men refuse to appear voluntarily to answer charges, Weaver claimed all the indictments were evidently based on a technical point concerning the process of stabilization.

TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 1938.

Now the birds and animals are very busy about low-cost housing.

Americans have at least something to be thankful for in this present European mess. We know better now who our foreign friends are.

Queer thing about Richard Whitney, the fallen Wall Street expert—he did not buy gold bricks but went broke on an applejack factory.

Simplifying the Government.

President Roosevelt and the New Deal win in the senate on the controversial governmental reorganization bill, by the close vote of 49-42.

Now the measure goes to the house, where it will again be the center of another bitter fight.

Observers seem agreed that the house will make changes in the bill, and that it will have to go to conference before going to the president for signature.

But they seem agreed that it will go to the president. Which may make the president feel that he's even for the defeat he suffered on the judiciary reform plan.

Well may he feel that way—for the reorganization bill gives him more power than the court reform bill did, at least in its present form.

He will have, for instance, no comptroller general to crack down on irregular expenditures—just an auditor to add up the bills and see that the totals are right. He can abolish bureaus that seem not to co-operate with him, and create new ones that will. He can do away with bureaus, and just reorganize things generally. He can toy around with civil service.

This reorganization isn't intended to save money—just to make government more efficient. Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia had a plan that would do both, he claimed, but the New Dealers wouldn't listen. Their plan won out—and though we may not save any money, we are assured that government will be much more efficient now—much less complicated. It gives previously unheard-of peace time power to the president? Oh yes, but think of the efficiency! Government is too complex—after this it will be simpler—much simpler.

It's difficult to figure how an administration that has created 48 new executive-controlled bureaus and commissions will suddenly turn about and simplify its set-up. Just as it may be embarrassing for the administration to recall that when it took office it professed to believe that the most important thing at the time was to balance the budget—but in practice created the greatest federal debt the country has ever known.

It would be more logical to expect that instead of abolishing commissions, bureaus and such that it will probably create more—and if it does reduce the number of them, find ways and means—and plausible necessity—for increasing the personnel.

A Step Forward.

Two years of argument, discussion and planning come to an end, and as a result, Mansfield is started on a water system program that will eventually, it is hoped, correct present recognized inadequacies and shortcomings, and give the city the kind of water system it needs and will need in the future.

In passing the $75,000 program at a special council meeting Saturday night, council takes the first step. The problem has been a difficult one, with many angles to consider. Council deserves credit for having stuck to its task, calmly and coolly, to the point of realization.

Credit also should go to the water development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which worked ceaselessly for a program that it felt had merit and should be adopted in the interests of the city's welfare.

Both council and the C. of C. water committee realize that approval of this $75,000 project does not solve the city's water problem in its entirety. It is but one step, covering only a part of the city.

Practically all of our water distribution system needs revamping. There needs also to be a sure and dependable source of supply.

Plans for both of these are on paper and have been given study. The barrier to speedy action is financing.

We have made progress in what we have done. Let us go on with the task now, and see it through.

Going to Pieces.

THE recent news from Czechoslovakia is discouraging to American friends of that country. It seems to be going the way of Austria.

The former cohesion against the Nazi minority belonging to the German Sudeten party has disappeared. The Czechs and Slovaks, who together have formed the backbone of this synthetic nation, are pulling apart, with the Slovakian People's Party demanding autonomy for their race and voting to boycott the government's national council. The German Christian Socialists have withdrawn from the government coalition. The different groups are more and more emphasizing their "ethnical differences", when the only way to preserve the security of any of them is to emphasize their common interests.

As a result of this cracking up, the German Nazis, with only about one-fifth of the population, and still a small minority in the national parliament, nevertheless have the largest racial group in that body and are rapidly growing in power.

This kind of division means national suicide. It is unlikely that the big liberal powers of Europe will intervene to save the fine little republic if the racial groups believing in democracy will not work together for their own salvation.

Nazi conspiracies, very likely, are at the bottom of this suicidal division, but the Nazis cannot be wholly to blame. The quarreling factions will realize their folly when the Hitler terror comes to Prague.

From the Barcelona massacre it's easy to see that in modern war the safest place is at the front.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

THERE HAS BEEN one reaction to President Roosevelt's Gainesville, Ga., speech calling for higher wages in the south that only the most astute politicians sense. The president has set a pace for the 1940 nominee. The mass of people may not accept less than President Roosevelt urges. If the depression continues they will insist upon more.

That would eliminate many possibilities. It may, in the end, eliminate all the possibilities on the Democratic side except President Roosevelt—or one of the La Follettes, if the Democratic party will accept them.

* * *

"NO RETURN"

The president has said in many utterances that there can be "no return" to the ways of the past.

That always is true. But reaction tries desperately, in every age, to return to the past. There is a constant struggle. And that struggle will be apparent in the 1940 election, as surely as it is apparent in Europe now.

There is a contingency abroad that will have to be reckoned with by both sides. Fascism may have reached its peak in Europe and in Asia. It may even now be overreaching itself and pull its economic world down on top of it.

But, as economists will tell you, a fascistic economic collapse will affect us even as a democratic economic collapse harms us. Economically, we are as much of an integrated world as are Siamese twins.

What will either the Democrats or the Republicans offer in such a contingency?

LOSS IN AUSTRIA

Americans, as well as other nationalities, have suffered losses in Austria's absorption by Germany.

Austrian bonds have dropped 75 per cent, Austrian interest payments probably will be discontinued, and American investments in Austria probably are doomed.

Of course, all that is as nothing to the suffering visited upon segments of the population, enslaved as were the conquered of old. Because a man is a Jew he is stripped of all he has, forbidden to leave the country, and forced to labor with indignities and often torture, either for a master or a jailer. Nor are the Jews the only ones. It is an age of intolerance. And in such an age the loss to intellectual life, to spiritual life, to science, to progress is infinitely greater than mere monetary loss.

SOME NOTES

Here are some economic headlines, gathered from a bulletin of the Alexander Hamilton Institute:

"1938 farm income now promises to total $6,868,000,000, or 19.4 per cent below that of last year. Farm income in 1937 was $8,521,000,000 (which, incidentally, was half a billion dollars less than had been estimated it would be the early part of 1937 and was a contributing cause to the recession)."

"Prospective demand indicates expansion of steel output. Annual demand now estimated at 39 per cent of capacity. Steel mills now working at only 32 per cent of capacity."

"Austria facing many disadvantages as result of Germany's seizure. Foreign obligations will be forced into default, foreign trade will be handicapped, and industries will have difficulty in competing with German concerns."

HEIL HITLER!

The Menace to States of Federal Taxation

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York has opened up a subject the discussion of which might advantageously have started some time ago.

The nub of the governor's argument is that federal taxation has become so heavy that nothing is left for the individual states to tax.

He might have added that nothing is left, either, for smaller units than the states (counties, municipalities and school districts) to keep themselves solvent with.

In other words, when Uncle Sam has taken his share, the various states' remaining shares and the shares of their various still more local governments are insufficient to support them. If they tried to impose such levies they would take the whole thing—and more too.

* * *

The New Yorker contends that this process is wiping the states out as separate entities.

It is, of course; if they cannot pay expenses they must evaporate. Which means, says Governor Lehman, centralization of everything in Washington.

Some political philosophers reason that this will be all right—that we have ceased to be a UNION but are ONE COUNTRY. Maybe so, but it was not the founding fathers' original intention.

* * *

STEWART LOOKS BACK

I can remember, within my own generation's span, when economists accepted it, prima facie, that we were particularly prosperous, in comparison with the rest of the world, because our taxation rate relatively was so low.

Contrasted with then our present rate is a sockdolager.

We aren't so prosperous, either.

Perhaps the old fellows knew what they were talking about.

* * *

WORLD-WIDE CONDITION

In those days, even, there were localities which overdid themselves. They made so-called improvements faster than they were able to pay for them and ran excessively into debt, resulting in local hard times.

But that was not so bad, for sufferers in these restricted areas trekked on into new areas where taxes were not so high.

Federal taxation cannot be avoided thus now.

The taxpayer is "stuck," wherever he is.

He can emigrate, perhaps, but where? The condition is world-wide.

* * *

REMEMBER—?

Nor can the situation be reversed seemingly.

I recall (again within my own generation) how horrified all hands were when our national expenses hit the one billion mark. That was not an indebtedness, however. We were footing the bill. There was not a huge debt piled up back of it.

Today we do not foot our annual bill and our debt has accumulated to a figure approaching 40 billions, besides.

Federal taxes! Oh, gee!

And local taxes on top of that!

* * *

THEY CALLED FOR AID

They have "hollored," each and every one of them, for federal aid.

It was obvious that federal aid must come out of the whole 48 of them collectively.

They didn't look at it like that. Each one hoped to "sting" the other 47—to get a lot of help without putting up any of its own.

Listen, World!

We've Gone Gypsy.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

The battered car squealed to a stop, frowsy little heads popping like rabbits through the clutter of boxes and pans. A lean man unfolded himself, ambled to my cabin door, followed by a fat woman in tight slacks and greasy sweater.

The man spat amiably—cal'klated we had a right nice place—wondered if we'd mind 'em camping for the night by the creek. This bein' gold country, they figgered on doin' a little prospectin'. No, they'd never done no mining, but he'd allus wanted to try his hand. He could sure use a few dollers, seeing how things were—all the kids to feed. Maybe if I had a few spuds to spare or some apples? He'd offer to work it out only he had a weak back, but if he struck anything—

An hour later, I walked down to their make-shift camp with a pan of gingerbread. A ragged tarpaulin sagged from a branch . . . a campfire blazed. Half-naked children rolled in the dusty grass or burrowed in assorted rags. The man sprawled, picked his teeth . . . explored his ear. Smiling, the woman made room for me—lifted the smallest baby to her breast.

Were they far from home? Waall, they hadn't had what you'd really call a home since way back in '31. Been drifting around ever since . . . lookin' things over. But wasn't it hard, going on like this, I prodded, cruelly . . . without friends or a steady job . . . and all those children . . . and never knowing where they'd be next? Seemed like a hard life.

The woman looked at me curiously—or was it pityingly? Then laughed. Lansake, no! They were havin' the time of their lives. At first it had seemed strange—this idea of dependin' on Relief as you went along. But everyone was doing it. And after all, it was only fair. If the government got you into trouble, it was up to it to take care of you, wasn't it?

* * *

Besides, livin' like this wasn't half as hard as it looked. A lot more fun than it had been back home, where you were so bound down you never got anywhere or saw anyone. Now there was always something new. Sometimes folks were a little unaccomdatin' . . . expected you to stay around two or three months before they'd give you relief. Gosh, how'd they expect you to live—waitin' three months for relief?

But, usually, on account of the children, they'd give you enough gas to go on. And there was always farm truck . . . and folks were always giving the kids dimes. One time they found a dollar.

The baby whimpered. The woman smiled through a yawn— prodded her snoring spouse. The firelight flickered against their ragged roof. Wondering, I wended my way home.

* * *

In the last five years, America has spent NINETEEN BILLION DOLLARS ON RELIEF. And we're going to go right on spending even more billions, says Mr. Stuart A. Rice, Chairman of the Federal Statistical Board—"for relief is no longer the answer to a temporary problem . . . IT HAS BECOME A PERMANENT INSTITUTION WHICH THE TAXPAYERS MUST MAINTAIN AS A PROTECTION AGAINST SOCIAL INSTABILITY." And even if the boom days of 1928 could return, the Relief situation wouldn't alter—"BECAUSE OF THE FUNDAMENTAL SOCIAL AND PSYCHOLOGICAL CHANGES IN THE ATTITUDES, CUSTOMS AND HABITS OF THOUGHT OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE."

"Fundamental changes in our habits of thought"—I'll say there are. Can you imagine YOUR father or mother hoboing it like that? Cheerfully . . . expecting Uncle Sam to feed them . . . feeling double-crossed if he didn't! Once "Going On Charity" was the ultimate shame. Today, it's a Federal Institution! Between the army of those who draw Relief and the army of those who dispense it, America's fast being picked clean of cash—AND CHARACTER!

* * *

The Market Crash didn't put us on this spot . . . nor the Greed of Big Business, nor the unreasonableness of Labor. Something shameful in our own natures put us on the spot—something that could no longer stand the routine and discipline of civilized society.

Always there has been that shifty streak in human nature—inevitable hang-over from the jungle. It was in our fathers, as it is in us. But our fathers kept it in hand . . . Stayed Put against the tugging undertow of laziness and restlessness. But we're different! Tempted by the speed and excitement of the Machine Age . . . loosed from responsibility by economic confusion . . . WE'VE LET GO . . . WE'VE GONE GYPSY.

Nineteen billions for "protection against social instability"? What do you mean by "protection against," Mr. Rice? Social Instability is the Best Thing most of us have got! JUST TRY AND TAKE IT FROM US!

Let's Look Around

Overseas Highway Provides Motoring Thrill.

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—From now on you will be hearing much about the newly completed motor highway, on which you can make the entire trip to Key West in your car, with only a nominal toll instead of the rather high ferry charge it has heretofore been necessary to pay.

Recent completion of the "overseas motor road", which opened for traffic today, marks a modernizing of Henry M. Flagler's engineering miracle of a quarter of a century ago when he extended the Florida East Coast railroad to Key West, thus accomplishing what even his associates had regarded as an impossibility.

Future visitors in Florida will have opportunity to enjoy the pleasant, and sometimes thrilling, experience of driving mile after mile over a fine highway that makes amazing jumps from key to key by means of bridges that rest on piers and girders of the old railroad, operation of which was abandoned after a large portion of it was destroyed by the hurricane of September 1935.

Carried through with federal aid, it is the hope of Key West residents that the highway will also mark the opening of a new day for this southernmost city in the United States and will establish it as a resort spot, at least to the extent of restoring a part of the prosperity it enjoyed years ago when it was an important cigar manufacturing center and the sponge industry was thriving in that vicinity, before moving up the west coast to Tarpon Springs.

* * *

MOTORISTS looking for "something different" will find the drive to Key West well worth while, not alone for the quaint attractiveness of the little city in its genuinely tropical setting ,but also for the novelty provided by the "overseas" drive that covers a considerable part of the 160 miles from Miami.

While the first part of the drive, after leaving Miami, may be considered uninteresting — leading down through Homestead and into monotonous expanses of pine trees and semi-tropical vegetation lining the highway on either side—all monotony vanishes with arrival at the first of the keys and a hint of the adventure that lies ahead.

Crossing from the Florida mainland to Key Largo and continuing along those narrow strips of land that are of coral formation, and between which the water of the Gulf of Mexico merges with that of the Atlantic ocean, motorists are greeted by new scenes of beauty all along the way, with the road ahead seeming to rise directly from the clear depths of great bodies of water on both sides, with beautifully varied coloring extending to the skyline at many points, sometimes broken by tiny islands and by the fishing boats or larger ships far out at sea.

Most impressive experience of the first trip, perhaps, is provided by driving over the seven-mile bridge from Knight key to Duck key, for which the concrete piers and steel girders of the old railroad provide the foundation, with the steel rails salvaged for use as guard rails.

Here the motorist is required to place implicit confidence in the reliability and engineering ability of those responsible for this project—as the water below has the appearance of being very deep and very wet. It was completion of this stretch of highway that made possible elimination of use of a ferry in reaching Key West from Miami.

A few miles further along the route is the Bahia Honda bridge, more than a mile long, where the roadway reaches an elevation of 75 feet above the water—and on which even ordinarily reckless drivers are inclined to move along cautiously. For this piece of roadway the entire steel superstructure of the old railroad bridge was utilized, which accounts for the unusual height reached.

Pouring concrete on this bridge, and erection of guard rails, marked the final steps before opening of the entire road to traffic.

Much road improvement work yet remains to be done—and it will be July before the new highway is formally dedicated—but, in case you're down this way, you can now drive your car all the way to Key West. Our trip on the overseas highway was just a few days before the Bahia Honda bridge was finished.

* * *

ON Key Largo, just a few rods from the highway, is an attractive home built entirely of the pink coral rock abundant in this vicinity. The story of how this house chanced to be built is interesting. Around 1924 a Chicago dentist — Dr. George L. Engel — was in such poor health that he was given up to die. He found this spot on Key Largo—fronting on the Atlantic. For something to do, he started gathering coral rock to use as the foundation of a home. Surprisingly, his health began to improve and he continued work on the home, which was finally completed and which he and his family now occupy. Just to keep busy he adds a little something to the house each year—or to beautification of the surroundings. He seems to have given up any idea of dying—and his home, known as the rock house, has become a show place of Key Largo.

* * *

FURTHER along the route, on Matecumbe key, has been erected a fine coral rock memorial to the hundreds of civilians and war veterans who lost their lives while at work on the keys during the hurricane that devastated that region on September 2, 1935.

* * *

EVEN more ambitious than completion of the motor highway to Key West is the idea of William R. Porter, president of the First National bank in Key West, who visions this as a link in what will eventually be a magnificent Pan-American highway 14,000 miles long, stretching from Maine to South America, with ferries to handle traffic across the sixty miles of water from Key West to Havana and across the Yucatan channal, thus bring New York and Buenos Aires 1,200 miles closer together, as against the route through Laredo, Texas, to Mexico City.

* * *

Federal interest in completion of the new road to Key West is being interpreted in some quarters as meaning that this might eventually become an important military highway to the Panama canal. It at least seems worth noting that improvements are being made at Key West's old Fort Taylor, which has recently been manned with modern coast defense guns and that the strategic value of Key West, in the event of war, is not being disregarded.

Health Advice

Cause of Shingles Unknown.

—By DR. ROYAL COPELAND

RECENTLY THE illness of Mr. Justice Cardozo of the United States supreme court aroused new interest in that annoying complaint known as shingles, from which tthe great jurist suffered. The doctors call it "herpes zoster," but by any name it is a painful affliction. This disease is sent to overworked persons or it may be a complication of some underlying infection.

There are different types of shingles. Some cases are exceedingly mild and of short duration. Others are so severe that the victim is confined to bed for weeks or even months.

Shingles is often confused with rheumatism, neuralgia, neuritis and other similar disorders. At the onset of any one of these diseases, the pain is similar to all the rest. But as a rule, within 12 to 24 hours after the onset of the pain, the characteristic rash of shingles will appear. This helps to distinguish shingles from the other afflictions.

The eruption or rash resembles fever blisters. Usually there are several small blisters, each about the size of a small pea. The surrounding skin is inflamed and reddened.

While it is occasionally met in young adults and children, it is more likely to afflict elderly persons. It may involve any part of the body, but is always found along the course of pathway of a nerve. The favorite place of attack is in the region of one of the nerves running from the spinal cord, around the back and to the front of the body.

As I have indicated, the pain may be mild in its nature, or extremely severe. Relief is obtained from the application of a mild and soothing ointment. But such treatment is of little value in severe cases where a strong opiate may be required. In some types of shingles, the application of melted paraffin is often used with benefit.

Your doctor will advise whether or not you should have this treatment. In a favorable case it affords relief of pain for 12 to 24 hours. The paraffin must then be reapplied.

Although the actual cause of shingles has never been determined, it is, as I have suggested, associated with excessive fatigue and a run-down condition. It is a warning and means that the body requires rest and attention. It is a sign that must never be neglected.

TREASURE HELD

Old times come back again today
To me, and this I know,
How much of happiness we had
In that far long ago.

Strange how the weak and weary drop
Away from pictured past,
And only Laughter's loveliness
I hold to, now at last.

And only beauty that we kept
Serene from troubled days
This now alone of all I keep,
Joy saved, your smile, your praise.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Rotten Row.

How did such a distinguished thoroughfare of London acquire such a strange designation?

The answer is illustrative of the way we humans have with language; for this name was once stately in form and sense, and we made it what it is today.

And Rotten Row, alas, is just a garble of the French Route du Roi!

Thus does corruption gradually steal into our lexicon, assume the mantle of respectability and thumb its nose at the purists.

CONGRESS TOLD BILLION NEEDED FOR U. S. ARMY

Huge Fund Required to Meet Any Emergency, Chief of Staff Testifies.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staff, has advised the house appropriations committee that an expenditure of $1,000,000,000 would be necessary "to bring the army into position to respond effectively to an emergency."

Testifying at hearings on the military appropriation bill, approved today by the appropriations committee, Craig said the $1,000,000,000 would be needed to "provide for the shortage in standard essential items of equipment, including clothing, weapons, transportation, and ammunition for a force of 1,000,000 men."

Has Mobilization Plan.

Craig explained that the war department had a "protective mobilization plan" with the first objective the immediate mobilization of 400,000 men.

The second objective is the addition of 330,000 men assigned to individual units and 270,000 unassigned enlisted men to be used as replacements or for formation of additional units.

Craig disclosed speed would be sacrificed to heavier armor in tanks awaiting delivery to the army and that the army expects to start buying anti-tank guns for use by infantry regiments.

At another point in committee testimony, Major Gen. Archibald Sunderland, coast artillery chief, declared fortified sea-coast cities in the United States had little to fear from attacks by sea.

Major Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of the air corps, told the committee his division was experimenting with new bombers which could fly so high as to be out of range of present-day anti-aircraft guns.

He reported that the army had received a twin-engined, low wing monoplane which is "probably the most formidable aerial fighting weapon of its type yet developed."

U. S. Agents Get Indictments In Race Tip Sheets.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Federal authorities smashed at a nationwide race horse tip syndicate in an indictment charging 23 persons with using the mails to defraud and conspiracy.

Officers of 14 alleged tipster sheets were raided by postoffice inspectors, city detectives and men working under U. S. Attorney Lamar Hardy.

He asserted the indicted group made profits of approximately $750,000 a year from horse players.

Hardy described Jacob Adelman of Brooklyn, one of the men indicted, as head of the group, which included his four brothers and eight brother-in-laws.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jene Galinda, circus strong man, said nine months in jail had reduced him to a mere shadow.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman looked skeptical.

Galinda picked up a telephone book (two inches thick) and tore it in two. The effort took two tugs and a grimace.

Before he was sentenced to jail for larceny, said Galinda, it only took one tug and a smile.

LAUNDRY ROOM OFF KITCHEN

They're Being Placed In New Quarters Rather Than In the Basement.

Laundry rooms are being placed off the kitchen rather than in the basements of many modern homes. Attractive color schemes and gay decorations make them valuable as additional working space.

Such quarters afford play room for children on bad days, and, in addition, the family sewing and mending can be done there without taking the housewife far away from the kitchen when there is anything that needs to be watched there.

When the family is entertaining, the additional table surface afforded by a convenient laundry room provides space for the preparation or storage of dishes. However, where lack of space compels the use of the basement for a laundry room, a cheerful place can be created.

Financing of home modernization and repairs may be accomplished under the property improvement credit plan of the federal housing administration. Banks or other private finance institutions extend the funds and are insured by the Federal Housing administration against loss.

Out of 30,000,000 housekeepers, each of whom prepares from 750 to 1095 meals a year, 15,000,000 have insisted on gas for cooking! 50%! That's just one reason, why you should insist that your new homes be built with adequate gas protection.

INSPECT BEFORE PAINTING HOUSE

Before a frame house is given a coat of paint, the siding and corner boards should be inspected. Joints may have opened as a result of stresses and strains set up during changes of weather. A few nails driven at the proper points will assist in keeping out moisture and provide better insulation by making the house tight.

No Difficulty In Applying Paint To Brick House

Brick is a suitable background for paint and will hold such a finish for years, when high-quality exterior paints are used. For this purpose, a portland cement paint or a lead and oil paint may be used successfully.

New Brick structures should be allowed to dry for several months if lead and oil paints are to be used. The use of a priming coat, containing a very substantial amount of high-grade exterior spar varnish, to act as a sealing film, does away with suction spots and alkali effect which might appear otherwise.

No special treatment is needed, as a rule, when old brick buildings are to be painted, but when the mortar between the bricks is crumbling the joints should be pointed up. Efflorescence of water-soluble salts often appears on unpainted brick. These salts are mainly compounds of calcimu, brought to the surface by absorbed rain water. Dry brushing or a scrubbing with water will generally remove this efflorescence.

COLOR SCHEME FRESHENS HOME

Repainting will give a house a completely rejuvenated appearance. A fresh color scheme will make any house look smarter. One family bought a small house and painted it white. The shutters were painted black and window boxes were a bright red. The front door was also red.

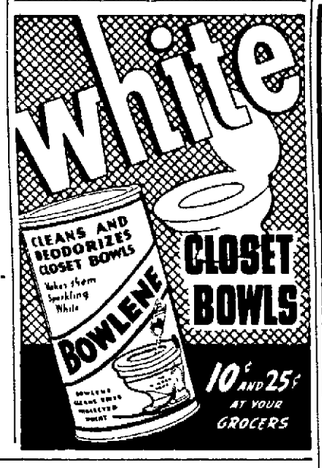
Funds for repainting a house may be obtained under the property improvement credit plan of the Federal Housing administration.

NEW RANGE

A new type of kitchen range is being placed on the market by a number of manufacturers. The broiler pan and grid swing out as the oven door is opened, making it easier to turn or remove food.

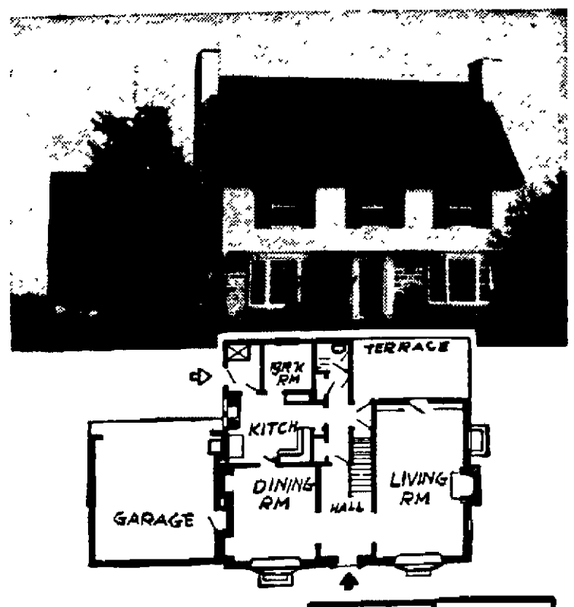
SOLID GROUND

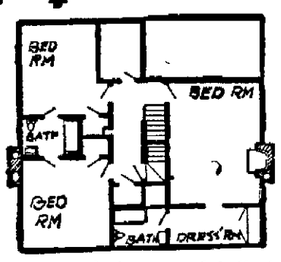
The ground on which concrete or masonry steps are to be placed should be solid and not recently filled. Ground that is recently filled will settle over a long period, and the steps will settle with it.



Materials And Supplies HOMES Plans And Estimates

White Siding, Sandstone Veneer





SANDSTONE veneer covers the first story of this well balanced colonial home in Dayton, Ohio.

The overhanging upper story and two-car garage wing are of white siding, while the roof is of weather-beaten gray shingles. The broad doorway and the charming bay windows in the dining and living rooms give the front of the house an exceptionally inviting appearance.

Inside the house, the rooms are arranged in a practical layout around the central hall. A breakfast room, a sewing room and a dressing room provide for the owner's convenience, and there is generous closet space.

FILLS CRACKS

If your plaster walls have cracks in them, before painting fill these cracks with plaster of Paris mixed with vinegar instead of water. The vinegar will keep it from hardening too quickly. Insert the plaster carefully into the cracks with a sharp tool and smooth off the top.

MUST BE DRY

It is not wise to paint or paper a plaster wall in a new house for several months. It should be given a chance to dry thoroughly before a final finish is applied.

Because the frame of a house may settle and shrink during the first few months, cracks may show up in the best job of plastering.

BATHTUB PRICES OF TODAY ARE HALF OF AVERAGE IN '20, CLAIM

Maybe you didn't know it but it's cheaper to take a bath now than it has been in recent years.

Current talk about high building costs does not apply to the plumbing industry says the Plumbing and Heating bureau.

The homeowner today can buy two bathtubs for the price paid for one bathtub in 1920, the bureau points out.

Throughout the recent period of rapidly rising raw material prices, wage rates, and increased and additional taxes, there has been no increase in the price of staple white enameled iron or vitreous china plumbing fixtures, the bureau reports.

Staple enameled iron plumbing fixtures today, and for the past two years, are selling at only 66 per cent of the 1926 base price as reported by the United States department of labor.

Department of labor reports, on the other hand, show that building material costs in general are about 92 per cent of the 1926 level.

Thus if the plumbing industry were to adjust its prices to the level of other building materials, present prices would be almost 50 per cent higher than they now are.

Temperature Held Important to Life of Wood Material

Structural and other wooden members in a building may become unsound if subjected to alternate wet and dry conditions. For example, the ends of joists embedded in a masonry foundation wall may become unsound if the walls of the basement are damp and poorly ventilated.

Similar damage to other parts of the building may occur as a result of a leak in the roof or eaves, loosened or deteriorated flashing, improperly constructed or unpainted windows, and the like.

The wood may be tested by jabbing it with the point of a jackknife. If it is soft and spongy, or very brittle, it is likely that structural reinforcements are necessary. Badly deteriorated parts should be replaced, and the basement of the building should be kept properly ventilated to prevent further deterioration.

Improvements of this nature may be financed under the property improvement credit plan of the Federal Housing administration.

BOOKS IN HALL

Bookshelves built in an entrance hall serve a dual purpose. They offer storage space and at the same time create an inviting appearance. Books in themselves are decorative and add interest and richness to any surroundings.

LUMBER
STANDS UP UNDER THE MOST RIGID TESTS!

Conscientious and reliable builders and contractors urge you . . . prospective homebuilders 'not to jump to false conclusions . . . acquaint yourself with THE FACTS! Lumber has been and is the most reliable and durable building material as yet found.

- 14⅞ inches of wood has more insulating value than 10 feet of solid concrete.
- The "termite scare" may be forgotten by an expenditure of less than $10.00 when your house is being built.
- Full cellars are necessary to real comfort in this climate.
- The majority of fires start on the inside of a home.
- A frame house can be readily repaired after a fire, and alterations and additions may be made at a reasonable cost.
- Lumber, used from time immemorial, has proven its permanence, durability, and its adaptability to any type of architecture.
- Almost any kind of material can be used to construct a house but only wood lends that indescribable character which converts a house into a home.

SCOTCH Beauty WITH "SCOTCH" ECONOMY

FRESH, sparkling beauty in a single, lustrous coat and tile-smooth! That's what Johnston SCOTCH FOUR-HOUR Enamel means to walls, woodwork, furniture—and autos, too. Dries for use in four hours!

Because SCOTCH covers in a single coat, even over contrasting colors of old paint, it costs no more to use than ordinary enamels that lack its rich beauty and resistance to long wear, acid, ammonia, alcohol, scalding water, and weather.

Try a can of SCOTCH FOUR-HOUR to-day and see for yourself how this "different" enamel excels. Let its magic touch renew that old breakfast set, those bathroom walls and woodwork — or the old "bus." Its lovely surface can be washed like china.

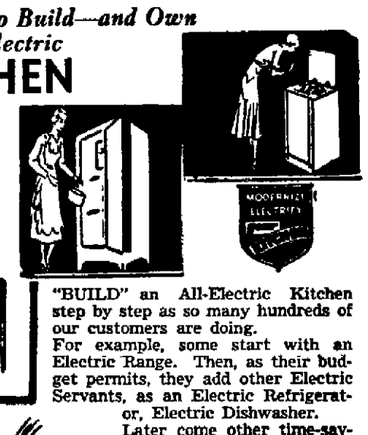
It's EASY

To Build—and Own An All-Electric KITCHEN

Step By Step!



"BUILD" an All-Electric Kitchen step by step as so many hundreds of our customers are doing.

For example, some start with an Electric Range. Then, as their budget permits, they add other Electric Servants, as an Electric Refrigerator, Electric Dishwasher.

Later come other time-saving and labor-saving conveniences such as an Electric Mixer, Electric Ventilating Fan and Electric Clock.

They buy each new servant on easy, convenient monthly payments. It doesn't take long until their kitchens are All-Electric.

Let us give you full particulars.

THIS MINIATURE KITCHEN... will help you plan your kitchen scientifically. It is a model of the beautiful, full-size kitchen shown in Westinghouse magazine advertising. All of the equipment is made to scale in individual pieces, so that they can be rearranged at will.
